HOUGH WORK POSSIBLE JEFFRIES' TRAINING SOME OF IT TORTURING

The Retired Champion Expects Infighting to Decide Conflict, July 4, and Is Making His Preparations Along That Line—Not Quick On His Feet, Says Murphy.

[By Mike Murphy.] Reno, Nev., June 24.-For a man of his years Jeffries shows an almost incredible willingness to submit to the most severe rigor of training.

is evident that Jim expects it will be strain.

ing, the battering heavy inside work, it is a man against a child.

on this point I want to see more of different to comment, and goes about his work in the most self-contained it is possible that because the work of today was largely confined to indighting and roughing that he did not have a chance to show with what hightness of foot he could move around need be.

John Fighters Depend on Inside Wook.

But Jeffries does not expect that gets him in the grip of one of those frightful hugs.

Johnson is here, and tomorrow I expect to have a chance to tell how his the fight of the later of the l there will be much long distance work in the bout with Johnson. The negro's pect to have a chance to tell how his best game has always been infighting. for he has no great jab, and, moreover man he must meet. Jeffries could not be much damaged by this kind of boxing anyway. Each LONDON BOWLERS the rivals prides himself on his ability to do damage at inside work. and it will be a pushing, vicious inside

It is not possible, either, to judge Score in Contest Yesterday Was much about Jeffries' judgment of distance in the work he did today. It judgment is vital, and it has been the today are loud in their praise of the enexperience of most boxers who stay out of the game for a time that the thing that suffers most is their ability to be able to pick out an exposed place and pop a punch to it before it can be covered up.

Jeff's Stomach Muscles Hard as Iron What will help Jeffries in a roughing contest is the condition of his stomach. The muscles across it are hard as iron. I never saw anything like them. Jeffries showed me today the exercise by which he has hardened up those muscles, and I must say that it takes a Spartan to do it. Jeffries sits on one stool and puts his feet under the rungs of another, someone having first taken a seat on the other stool—so—as to hold seat on the other stool so as to hole it in place. Then Jeff swings and sways himsel fnto all sorts of positions. He leans back he bends around, he twists backward til his head goes to the floor. Sometimes he does it fast, sometimes he does it slow and all times there is in every move-ment a concentration that assures the utmost rack and strain on every muscle that figures in the operation.

Exercise Tortuous Punishment. I saw him do things today that it would be hard to exact of a college youngster burning with ambition to make his football eleven.

This cheerfulness is a good sign of a man who has been working right.

You have to get up early to see Jeffries at work, and I think that is one of the reasons why many of the newspapermen at Rowardennan got the idea that he was shirking.

EXERCISE Tortuous Punishment.

This would have been a good form of punishment for the middle ages. It takes a boundless courage to go through with it as faithfully as the boilermaker does. The strain on the abdominal muscles is tortuous, but they show the hardening result. Jeffries never lets up. Nor does he puff when it is all over. I tell you, no man not in good shape could go through this without collapsing unless he had been for months engaged in the right kind of work to be in shape.

Every stage of this work was marked by one important feature, Jeffries perspired freely; in fact, I never saw a man whose perspiration ran in such a stream.

Boxing of Roughest Kind Possible.

The boxing that Jeffries did was all of the roughest kind possible, and it is earliest that Jim expects it will be strain.

is evident that Jim expects it will be a rough bout, with all kinds of innighting. Rickard doesn't look like the man who can separate this pair in the clinches. It would take a man of a good deal more beef and athletic experience than he has.

Corbett, good a man as he is, is simply like a chiid in the hands of the monster Jeffries. Of course, Corbett can stand off at long distance and give him a pretty battle at the boxing game, but when it comes to the rushing, the battering heavy inside work, Johnson Can't Rattle Him.

Jeffries in his boxing today did not ook to be very fast on his feet, and on this point I want to see more of him in the days that are yet to come. ightness of foot he could move around if need be.

3oth Fighters Depend on Inside Work.

Kind of neck holds. If it be true, as has been said, that Johnson's nerve is not all it should be, I am curious to see what will be the effect when this human bear

Pirates and Cubs Now a Tie With Six

record for inactivity at first base was established at today's game between Chicago and Pittsburg, Hofman, of the visiting team, failing to have a single put out to his credit in the eight innings he played that position, and but one assist. The one chance he had was Tinker's throw of Wilson's grounder in the second inning, but this he fumbled. Pittsburg won, 6 to 5.

The Pirates, returning to home grounds after nearly a month's absence, were backed by more than usual enthusiasm in the grand stands, and began what the so early that hardly anybody else is astir.

This tip was passed to me, and I had to get under way at 4:30 to see Jeff in the beginning of his work, for he was hard at it by 5 o'clock.

He tackled the hardest kind of a programme today, running, playing that shipping the rope, chest exercises, boxing with Bob Armstrons, Jack Jeffries and Jim Corbett, shadow boxing and finally a most terrific exercise for developing the abdominal muscles, which I shall describe later on.

Every stage of this work was marked by one important feature, Jeffries has been steadily declining to get on the scales in front of newsperspired freely; in fact, I never saw a man whose perspiration ran in such a stream.

Iduids, but it is evident that Jeffries has been following is pretty well balanced. He starts at 5 o'clock in the morning, loafs an hour for two hours more after 9 o'clock. Then there is a loaf until 4 o'clock, and he takes three hours.

O do 5 o'clock.

Uritually all of the work here will be done out of doors, for Jeffries thinks that this will help him to get under who which I shall describe later on.

Every stage of this work was marked by one important feature, Jeffries has been steadily declining to get on the scales in front of newspersmen, but it is given me straight that his weight is now 230, which Is just about right for a man of his size.
