LONDON BEAT WOODSTOCK Western Meets IN POORLY HANDLED GAME

Bad Refereeing, Great Goalkeeping and Fans Rushing on Ice all Features of Junior Contest That Started Off Splendidly.

[EV BERT PERRY.]

London's junior O. H. A. representatives had to battle all the way to beat the Woodstock juniors at the University Arena last night, but they finally came out on top by the score of 5 to 3. While the result found favor with local fans, the game did not. It is seldom that a referce is as harshly criticized by local enthusiasts as Lorne Fraser, of Paris, was last night, and his work merited for the third period being mostly burlesque hockey. In this period, the teams started play with only six men aside,

As an added attraction the young ladies' team of the university will meet the St. Andrew's Church ladies' team.

The curtain will be rung up on the games at 8 o'clock sharp and two hard fought contexts are certain to be staged. The Western players have been training for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equally certain that the "how's the crops" boys will come with leading for the event and are in fine shape, while it is equ started play with only six men aside, because Hotson, of the visiting team, tad retired with a cut on his head and had taken Nelles off with him. The London youngsters bombarded the visitors' nets a great deal harder and oftener than the Woodstock kids bombarded London's, but Childs was almost invenetrable. We know of only one goal-keeper in intermediate hockey that is in his class and that is Hainsworth, the little Berlin star. On the play, especially in the first two periods, London should have easily doubled the score on the industrial city team. In the final period, the fact that three of the local players had played in strentous games in the Manufacturer's league the night before, went hard with them and the forward line was all shot to places as it were. Combination work was conspicuous by its absence, and only great defence work by Sinclair, Bell and Rueter staved off defeat.

Brodison Best On Line.

Tommy Brodison was easily the star of the forwards, despite the fact that had one of the hardest men on the visiting team to check. Parker, the Woodstock star jumor player, was out of the grame owing to illinese, but a

This boy is heavy and fast for his weight. He save Brodisen a hard might of it, but the little fellow played rings around him at times. Despite this, Douglas looked as good as any man on the Woodstock team and played as hard as anybody.

Billy Phillips did not shine as he should. He lacked pep., in the third period particularly, the hard game the night before apparently playing have with his condition. The local management should set its official foot down on the juniors playing hockey in the local leagues or the team is going to go stale, oo much hockey is far worse than not enough. Nelles and McKay showed up well, although the latter is not as good a centre man as Walden, though a better check. On the defence every man proved a star. Johnny Bell is the speedlest man on the team. His rushes were always daugerous. The same can be said of Sinclair. He is a most stickle andler and uses his weight. Third Period Burlesqued.

The last part of the game was the worst part of it. Neither team played anything but an individual game, and the hot pace of the earlier periods had told too severely on the youngsters to make them very fast. Close checking, with spills galore and numerous offsides, was the order of things, and Referee Fraser did little to make the players play hockey. He apparently tried to see how many men the penalty box could hold at one time. It was a parade to the fence most of the time. After thirteen and a half minutes of play, Deuglas managed to beat Rueter, after boring in on the nets. Sinclair was off at the time, and London was playing four against five men. Matters looked serious for London at

The western players have been training for the event and are in fine shape, with only Selbert, Truschinski and Halnsworth on the ice, and playing against five Preston men, the latter could not score. In the middle of the second period Butterfield sustained a ad cut in the leg and was forced to retire for the remainder of the game, Leroux going off to even up.

Preston's two tallies came in the first four minutes, Freeman and Butterfield scoring before the Berlin team had got properly going. The visitors had the best of the play in the first period, the locals being unable to get away, ut in the second and particularly the last period Preston was played off its feet. Close and hard back-checking marked the work of both sevens, but towards the last of the game Preston fagged, and the superior condition of berlin told effectively when much combination was used. TORONTO, Jan. 20. — While Terontos won from Shamrocks tonight 4 to 3, there is still doubt as to which is the better team. It cannot be said that the champions were lucky, but it is certainly true that last year's tall-enders were unlucky. The N. H. A. penalty system caused the loss of Shamrocks' chances to win. In the last period, with the score three all, Smith secured the puck, and with only Holmes to beat, skated up close to the mouth of the goal. As he was about to shoot, two of three of the Toronto players threw their sticks and spoiled Smith's shot. The penalty to the offenders was the putting off of McGiffin and his replacement by another man, while Shamrocks lost what appeared to be a sure goal. of Game During 1915 Shamrocks.
