rending. Dr. Howells, his wife and three little boys crouched in their home in a group when the storm burst. The house was blown kindling; the father was left dead; the mother badly injured and the children more or less hurt. Mrs. W. W. Green and daughter. Miss Bessie, a student in the State Normal school, crushed as their house fell, and their bodies were found far out among the wreckage. The little son, Audrey, was found to-day with severe injuries. The Weaver family of eight saw the coming death-cloud, but stood calmly by the chair of John C. Weaver, the aged father, who was an invalid. The grown sons might easily have run with wives and baby one hundred yards out of the storm's path. The man was crushed in his chair; the others were knocked senseless. Miss Ella Weaver's legs were both broken, but the aged mother was not nurt. Jos. Weaver, his wife and baby, and brother, Samuel, were terribly crushed. As a result of the tornado, 200 families are homeless and more than 30 dead bodies and 70 injured persons have been recovered from the ruins. Although rescuers have been searching the ruins ever since the storm spent its fury, many are still miss-ing, and it is thought that a considerable number of the unfortunates were consumed in the flames that broke out soon after the storm had ceased. The work of rescue continues, but it may be days before the total number of victims is known.

USEFUL LIFE ENDED.

Dr. Edmund R. Travers, the wellknown and highly respected physician and surgeon of Amboy, passed to his rest at his home in that city at 3 o'clock this morning of hemorrhage of the brain. He was taken ill with the grip in the early part of the winter and never recovered from the effects of this disease. He was around town yesterday as usual, and last evening retired with no complaint of unusual illness. At 11 o'clock he became unconscious, and so remained until his death. Drs. Cook and Felkers were summoned and did everything possible for the stricken man, but without
