We are just now furnishing our customers with special values in easoned) and other supplies of this favorite sport. They are the latest pattern, personally selected by a cricketer of experience from the world's best makers—WARSOP, PAGE, BRYAN, SHAW SHREWSBURY and WISDEN.

It was resolved to suggest to Kenneth McAlpine, who is bringing out the English cricketers, the advisability of playing in Canada prior to Philadelphia, on account of the weather. In fact, it was thought best for all English touring Cricketters to be advised to visit this country prior to the United States.

The general report reviewed the season, which was styled a popular one. The Englishmen and Philadelphians were given royal receptions here, and great games resulted. The financial statement showed a deficit of $100. At present the Canadian Association has a membership of nine individuals and eight clubs. Officers were elected as follows: Hon. president, the Governor-General; president, Major A. M. Cosby; vice-presidents, K. Martin, Hamilton; W. C. Little, Ottawa; G. W. Jones, St. John's; T. S. C. Saunders, Vancouver; H. E. Wilson, Winnipeg; hon. secretary-treasurer, J. E. Hall; hon. assistant ecretary-treasurer, H. F. Petman; auditor, D. W. Saunders.

Mr. Charles Cameron, general manager of the Great Northwest Transportation to Company, Collingwood, was in town yesterday. Mr. Cameron speaks in high terms of the prospects for the coming season, and is enthusiastic over the launching of his new boat, the Majestic, which takes place at Collingwood to-day. Mr. Cameron says that his company were never so well able to carry tourists as they will be during the present season, every arrangement having been made for their comfort. There is really no more enjoyable trip than along the made for their comfort. There is really no more enjoyable trip than along the north shore to the Soo by one of this company's boats. The Majestic, which is to be launched to-day, is considered to be one of the finest boats on the upper lakes.

the Schismatic Enemies of the Papacy. The epidemic of the Middle Ages were so numerous that even such in defatigable historians as Hecker and Hoesor have been compelled to leave many of them unnoticed. One of the most interesting of these, both from the historic and medical standpoints, is the plague which fell upon the German army in Italy, A. D. 1167, and which has out the great men of the army, particularly the schismatic clergy. Rainald, Archbishop of Cologne, "head and leader of the schism"; the Bishops of Prague, Regensoburg, Spires, Verdun and Liege all died in a few days, and the death of so many princes and nobles brought into prominence, if it did not originate, a curious custom of some interest for the history of anatomy. Many originate, a curious custom of some in-terest for the history of anatomy. Many persons "ashamed to leave their dead friends in a hostile country," boiled their bodies and extracted the bones, in order to take them home to their father-land. Thus they boiled Bishop Daniel and took his bones to Prague, but his
