Note and Comment

The woman with a baby and the woman without one are always sorry for each other.

In a churchyard in Worcester, England, is a slab over the grave of a departed auctioneer bearing the single word "Gone."

Just for a change how would it do for a prisoner charged with murder in the United States to apply for a commission to see if the Judge and jury were sane.

Every person who works should take a holiday. Just pack up and take a trip and you will be surprised how well they can get along at home without you.

A woman tried to commit suicide by drinking a large bottle of iodine.
She said there was a stain on her character. That's neither here nor there, but she certainly has a stain on her interior.

Five murderers will hang in the north of England during the next two weeks. If they had sufficient American wisdom to suggest that their jail confinement since their conviction had brought on insanity, a reprieve might be secured.

For the third time in three years a truck crashed into the sitting room of Mrs. Julia Poole's home at Halifax, N.S. Anyone who has ever walked up and down the terraced streets of that ancient city will readily understand how easily such an accident could occur.

Everett Zealand, a Durham county farmer, was fined $2 or if the fine was not paid sentenced to jail for one month for whipping a Barnardo boy with a pulley belt because he had not weeded a sufficient quantity of turnips. The fine of course was paid but doesn't it look utterly ridiculous when standing alongside thirty days in jail?

The Sabbath Day will be kept holy and Simcoe's streets remain dirty and littered with the unsightly piles of rubbish that accumulate in every town on Saturday nights, because the proposal made by a few of the town councillors to extend the daily street cleaning in the business blocks to Sundays brought such a storm of protest from other members. Apparently such a procedure would be the grossest misconduct, violating every law of the Sabbath and subjecting the town to the condemnation and penalty-imposing powers of the Lord's Day Alliance.

An exchange says: "When your sewing machine needles become dull, stitch for several minutes through fine sandpaper". We don't know, but you will after a trial.

Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader, who was the principal speaker at the big Conservative picnic at Springbank Park, yesterday, dealt at length with the tariff question and maintained that a protectionist policy was the only one that would put Canada on its feet economically and declared that the tariff should be raised rather than reduced. This is an indication that the next election will be fought out on a question of high or medium tariff.

Girls with bobbed and shingled locks who had been carefully saving the hair they had cut off for use in the event fashion decreed a change in hair styles have received a shock. It was stated recently that bobbed hair changes in color and on examining the treasured packages of hair, the bobbed one usually finds there is a difference. Consequently, many packages of hair have found their way into the waste basket in the last few weeks.

The Canadian dollar this week in New York stood at a premium of 3.32. Confidence of United States capital in the Dominion, optimistic preparations for new Canadian financing, prospects for an excellent crop, large United States purchasing in Canada, and heavy expenditures of American tourists in the Dominion, are some of the reasons offered by financial experts for the consistent above-par stand of the Canadian dollar on the New York exchange.

Merchants Read the Correspondence

Do the merchants and businessmen of Watford read the news of the district found in the various budgets of correspondence? In the business transactions performed daily the friendly contact is a great asset in making sales of merchandise. In the district news of The Guide-Advocate merchants and their salespeople will find many interesting items which will give them knowledge of what is going on in the country among their prospective customers. When joy or sorrow has come into the homes of the people living in the country a friendly and sympathetic word is always appreciated. Merchants and business people of Watford will find it good business to read about the doings in the country districts in the correspondence from The Guide-Advocate reporters appearing each week.

The great game in the United States today is "beating the law." A case in point is that of Russell Scott, convicted murderer. Scott's case was fought out in the lower courts, and in the appeal courts, without the results desired by his friends, self-appointed and otherwise. A fake telegram from Detroit managed to get him past the day originally set for the execution; then the bright idea occurred of having him put on trial to see if he had become insane since his conviction. It was the trump card and it won. How the law-evaders can rejoice, and with them rejoicing are the law-breakers. Respect for law and order, at a low ebb in many parts of the United States, has been given another blow. A few more like it, and the country will be completely in the hands of the criminals.

The Wanstead girls soft ball team journeyed to Wyoming on Thursday evening, when they defeated the Wyoming team by a 13-2 score.

Great Britain will again have an organized exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition, arranged by the British Federation of Industries which represents 1,900 manufacturing establishments with a capitalization of twenty-five billion dollars.

As a vermicide an excellent preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It has saved the lives of countless children. a14-m

It's Amusing But True

A believer in newspaper advertising says: "It's amusing but true. Let a wide-awake bustling merchant who knows advertising pays, put a list of low prices in the paper and his competitors who don't believe in advertising will tumble over themselves to post a lot of box covers in their window on which are daubed signs telling of goods they have at the same price."—Elora Express.
