"I cannot well describe the reception we met with when we arrived at our beloved island home: as soon as we approached the shore a simultaneous rash was made for the boat. The crew jumped out, and we soon found ourselves, boat and all, on the shoulders of the people. Including the captain and Mrs. Morgan, there were not less than eight of us thus borne away towards our house. The people were, after some time, prevailed upon to put down their burden. Men, women, and children, all crowded around us, anxious to give a proof of their affec-
