To Rev. W. J. McColl, Parish Priest of Ennismore

- Rev. and Dear Pather-Of those who will miss your kind smile and encouraging word in the purish of Ennisbringer, none will feel more keenly your departure than your choir.

Notwithstanding the numerous and onerous duties of the holy priesthood which you are daily called upon to discharge, your interest in your choir never flagged nor was encouragement ever wanting

You showed that you realize what an important place in the liturgy and holy offices church music holds, and hence you have always endeavored to make your choir worthy of the house of God according to the words of the royal psalmist "Praise the Lord with timbre; and choir, prame Him with strings and organ" Hence we always Souk the greatost pleasure in preparing the different hely officers and our devotion was attimulated and increased by your zeal for the glory of the house of God. We have learned then to esteem and love you not only as the good priest ministering most faithfully to the numberless needs of his flock, not only as the spiritual father of a large and flourishing parisb, but we admire you and we thank you for the exceptional interest you have taken in our behalf.

We had fervently wished that you would remain with us continually, but since His Lordship in his wisdom, has transferred you to a larger and more important parish, we humbly submit to his decision, and pray that you may be spared for many years to continue in the church of God the good -workyou have so nobly done in our wids.

"As a little mark of respect and only hould to you, we ask you, Rev. Pa-anne co-operation and assistance in corrying out his wishes as they had a four and plant has the done for himself.

In conclusion, dear Father, it is a source of gratification to us that although our spiritual relations are so suddenly severed, there yet remains to us the opportunity of social intercourse, as your new place of abode is within easy reach, and we trust that meetings will not be like angel a visits, few and far between. AN OLD CORK CITY DIRECTORY. A local paragraph in The Globe says. A woman entered the reference library the other day, and calinly asked the chief librarian if she might examme the Cork directory for 1838 Mr. Bain, on the spur of the moment, remembered that some years ago a copy of the desired directory was recrived with a quantity of periodicals and miscellaneous works. At that time he was on the point of casting it aside but on second thought preserved it. And so, when the woman asked for it he went straight to the shell and brought it forth as he would an everyday atlas. The woman when she received the volume was almost speechless. She managed, however, to say that she had asked in vain for that directory in important libraries in all parts of the continent

THE CROWN LIFE.

A very instructive booklet has just been issued by the Crown Life Insurance Company which deals with life insurance matters as they exist in Canada.

Mr. Roberts, the compiler of the brochure, deserves credit for the masterly way in which he handles the subject. He shows that since 1875 Canadians have paid to American companies alone the enormous sum of $62,-000,000 in premiums on insurance amounting to nearly $3,000,000,000, the premiums paid last year aggregating $1,200,000.
