

INTRODUCTION

The Guide is designed as a reference to current Canadian policies in the field of international peace and security. It is divided into four sections: ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT, DEFENCE, CONFLICT PREVENTION AND RESOLUTION, and COOPERATIVE INTERNATIONAL EFFORTS. Within these sections, individual entries are organized under the headings BACKGROUND, CURRENT CANADIAN POLICY, and PARLIAMENTARY COMMENT. A fifth section, FACTS AND FIGURES, provides basic data related to Canadian policy.

The BACKGROUND section provides the international context for Canadian policy, and may also incorporate Canadian policy prior to the year under review where this is appropriate. CURRENT CANADIAN POSITION is based on statements by Ministers and responsible officials. PARLIAMENTARY COMMENT is intended primarily to reflect the responses of the opposition parties, and, for the most part, draws upon statements by designated party spokespersons. At the end of each entry, a selected list of current references and background readings is provided. This list is not comprehensive: in conjunction with the footnoted references to Canadian policy statements and documents, it is intended to guide the interested reader to further sources of information.

SECTION II - CONFLICT PREVENTION AND RESOLUTION

Some of the individual entries necessarily overlap. For this reason, and in order to avoid duplication, the CROSS REFERENCES at the end of each section may provide important additional information on the entry in question. In particular, readers may wish to be aware that, in addition to the data on peacekeeping in FACTS AND FIGURES, Canadian policies on peacekeeping operations are described in the individual entries of the CONFLICT PREVENTION AND RESOLUTION section.

The 1992 Guide covers the period from the beginning of August 1991 to the middle of August 1992. It begins, therefore, with the failed coup in what is now the former Soviet Union and ends as the crises in Yugoslavia and Somalia deepen.

In February, the Federal Government announced its intention to close the Institute. This necessarily interrupted the process of preparing The Guide, however the Institute determined that it should be completed
