

prison that they are reasonable prospects for future good citizenship in spite of past failures. We are prepared, with the prisoner's consent, to give full information to any prospective employer of the prisoner's assets and liabilities, his abilities and his experience, and I can assure you that a considerable number of those released from our penitentiaries have a sincere desire to make good.

s/A