

November 10th, 1927.

President W. Sherwood Fox,
University of Western Ontario,
London, Ontario.

Dear President Fox:-

Let me hasten to congratulate you on your election as President of Western University - a position you have virtually held for many years without the compensation of the title.

I would like very much to talk with you, but I am afraid that Saturday is not a convenient day. You will be here to see your team play with Loyola, while I will be in Kingston to see the McGill-Queen's game. You are probably leaving Toronto on Friday night at eleven o'clock. I may say that I shall be in Toronto on Friday to attend Armistice Day ceremonies there. We might meet at the King Edward some time Friday evening.

Cordially reciprocating your good wishes, I am,

Yours faithfully,

Principal.
