N. W. Rowell Speaks at Chatham

Mr. Rowell emphasized the vast extent of the British Empire, and the fact that only 60,000,000 of its total population of 400,000,000 were of European stock. This greatly increased the difficulties in government.

"Among these 340,000,000 of people," he said, "law and order must be maintained, justice freely and impartially administered, educational systems established and maintained; and these peoples gradually educated to the point of participating in the government of their own countries. Surely a very large share of the white man's burden has been assumed by Great Britain—a burden with which we in Canada are entirely unfamiliar."

Mr. Rowell pointed out the great change which had taken place in the character of the empire since to the maval defence of the raval defence of the raval defence of the maval defence of the whole empire. Australia has altered the point of responsibility for the naval defence of the maval d

A Disgraceful Condition

Several citizens complained

Several citizens complained to The World last evening about a disgraceful state of affairs at the Toronto Union Station. As one of the informers said: "Two drunks went into the station about 7.30, and the heat caused the stuff they had been drinking to come up on them. They were sitting near the information office and the floor in front of it was in a disgraceful state. Several ladies who were in the large waiting-room were sick and had to go to Front street to get some fresh air. One of the station officials was notified, the policeman on duty was informed and other efforts were made to have the floor washed up, but nothing was done until half-past nine. "This." he concluded, "is a disgraceful state of affairs for a city the size of Toronto."

Mr. Watson emphasized the wisdom of prevention of disease, and blamed a goodly share of the human trouble to the ordinary feather dusting brush, which he termed as being a menace to health. Next he waged war on the common house fly, and stated that by banishing it disease will also be banished. "Always keep your bedroom windows open, as ventilation is a vital thing in connection with health," was another of his points. He then outlined at large what great work the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives is doing. At the close of the lecture a collection was taken up and $7.29 realized.
