

CONTENTS

	PAGE
Lotbinière, M. C. Cameron and Huntington in opposition—Confederation carried by 91 to 33—Macdonald, Brown, Cartier and Galt attend an Imperial Conference—Parliament prorogued till Autumn—Dark clouds threaten Confederation—Tragic events at the close of the American War—Surrender of General Lee and his army to General Grant—Assassination of President Lincoln—Relative fame of Washington and Lincoln—The British mission	275

CHAPTER XXIV

RECIPROCITY VAINLY SACRIFICED ON THE ANNEXATION ALTAR

Efforts to renew the Reciprocity Treaty—Buffalo, Detroit, Oswego, Portland, Boston, New York and other cities deeply interested—The famous Detroit Commercial Convention—Eminent Canadians present—Brilliant oration of the Hon. Joseph Howe—Statistics prove the immense success of the treaty—The politicians vs. business men—Consul-General Potter's annexation escapade—An exciting and unpleasant scene—Detroit's magnificent and costly festivities—The commercial men triumph at Detroit, but the politicians at Washington—Reciprocity vainly sacrificed on the Annexation altar	288
--	-----

CHAPTER XXV

SPLIT IN THE CABINET—GEORGE BROWN RESIGNS

Death of Premier Taché—Ministerial crisis—The Reform leader objects to the Coalition character of the Government being changed—Sir Narcisse Belleau chosen Premier—Seat of Government removed from Quebec to Ottawa—Galt and Howland visit Washington—Reciprocal legislation proposed—A split in the Cabinet over it—Hon. George Brown resigns—Personal interview with him at Hamilton immediately afterwards—He speaks freely of the causes of his resignation—Was he intentionally slighted?—No Cabinet large enough to hold the rival chieftains long—Alex. Mackenzie, M.P.P., offered office, but declines—Hon. A. J. Fergusson-Blair accepts	297
---	-----

CHAPTER XXVI

PROSPECTS OF CONFEDERATION BRIGHTEN

The second Reciprocity mission—It fails, but proves a blessing in disguise—Lessons which both the United States and
---	--