MRS. KOERNER WINS.

Gets a Divorce from Her Husband and Also Gets Her Child—A Boy.

Buffalo, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Georgia M. Koerner was granted a divorce to-day from her husband, Herman T. Koerner, head of the big lithographing firm of Koerner & Hayes, and with it the custody of their child, a boy 15 years old.

The action for divorce was first brought by Mr. Koerner, and was followed by a counter suit, both parties basing their suits on statutory grounds. While the case was pending an exciting element was injected by the kidnapping of young Koerner from his school near Syracuse. His father went there to see him and took him to Quebec, and at night got him aboard a liner and took him to London. Mrs. Koerner followed by the next steamer and, after several days search, found her son in London, where the father and tutor were at the theatre, and fled back to America with him. Mrs. Koerner is wealthy in her own right and did not ask for alimony.

SHOULD BE GOOD FRIENDS.

French Papers Adopt a Wooing Tone Towards Britain.

HANOTAUX WILL BE BLAMED

If He Fails to Cement the Nations as the French People Desire.

The Report that the French Government has joined the other Powers in negotiations for Turkish reforms is considered—French have affected wrath in Europe—The German Budget brought down—Two new Cardinals created—General News by Cable.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The Figaro, in a leading article to-day, declares that the most intimate relations between Great Britain and France are necessary, and that M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, will be to blame if he fails to cement the nations as desired by the people and Parliament of France.

Le Nord confirms the statement made in Saturday that the Paris Government has joined the Governments in St. Petersburg and London in negotiations looking to the establishment of Turkish reforms, which accounts for the sudden change in the tone of the French press towards England.

THE DUST OF THE CHAPMANS.

John Chapman's Will Said to Have Been Violated and the Bones of Seven of the Family Discovered.

When old John Chapman of Scarborough made his last will and testament, leaving over 100 acres for division to the different members of his family, he had no means of knowing the trouble it would bring. To the east of the weather-beaten Chapman residence of old days, and of the trout stream gurgling beside it, stands a leaf-shaped knoll, some 70 feet high, crowned by white birch and cherry trees, and the graves of seven of the family. This mound of dust, together with a pathway leading to it from the Danforth-road, was reserved by John Chapman's will as a graveyard in perpetuity. In the division of the property the 20 surrounding acres fell to the son David, and in the sale which he recently made to the Massey-Harris Company he included the little graveyard. It is reported that the Massey-Harris Company has now excavated the graves of seven of the Chapman daughters, who had married into the Westlake Woods families. Last week it is said, Jim Chapman made a box and under his supervision and that of Auctioneer Beldam of Scarborough, who has been acting for the Massey-Harris Company, all the bones that could be collected were placed in the improved coffin and taken down to Norway Cemetery, where the box was dropped into the grave. The proceedings have been witnessed by the knoll yesterday the disturbed turf showed the spot where the bones were found. The proceedings to the north of it the ground is full of stakes to mark the site of a summer school for the children of the family next spring. There is every indignation in the family at the action of the company, and the proceedings will be taken in the matter.

Mrs. Westlake, who lives in Norway, was quite provoked when she saw by a World reporter yesterday. She said: "I can't bear to think of the dust of my mother being cast to the winds."

Agent Beldam, evidently feeling that the proceedings had been carried out in violation of the will, has written to the trustees, Mr. Woods, one of the old man's daughters on Saturday and offered her a dollar and a half for the property, but she would have none of it.

THE AQUEDUCT SCHEME

Presented in a New Shape to the City—Local Capitalists Say They Will Go In.

The proposal of the Power Aqueduct Company was yesterday referred to the Board of Control. It is expected they will deal with it at their next meeting. The proposal to the Council of the Corporation of the City of Toronto, as a result of several months' negotiation between the directors of the company and a number of local capitalists, among whom are some of Toronto's most wealthy individuals, the plan has been evolved in relation to the main of this company and its undertaking.

The gentlemen referred to have considered the information placed at their disposal, and they have examined the plans and estimates and the reports, and have inspected the tunnel, which they were disposed to take a view adverse to the project prior to investigation. They realize, however, that the undertaking is one that involves the expenditure of some millions of dollars, and as it is of such a public character and would confer such great and lasting benefits on the city, they are prepared to place upon a satisfactory financial basis and the control of the undertaking placed in hands which will remove from all prejudices which may still exist in the public mind. MR. WILLIAM HALL.

Secretary-Treasurer of the Army and Navy Veterans' Society.

Mr. William Hall was one of the original members of the Veterans' Society, and since 1887 he has taken an active part in promoting its success. For the past 18 months he has very efficiently filled the position of secretary-treasurer, and though he has expressed the wish to be relieved from these duties, the society has, by vote, requested his continuance in office.

Mr. Hall is an Englishman. He was born at Preston, in Lancashire, in 1839. When 21 years of age he enlisted in the Royal Artillery and in 1859 was transferred to the Royal Horse Artillery at Woolwich. He has never seen active service, though he has taken the deepest interest in all things military. For the first three years after his discharge he had the care of military stores at the barracks here. During the last 25 years he has been in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway Company. The British Government gave him a pension of $4 a day, but this he commuted for a lump sum. Mr. Hall is still proud of his corporal's stripes and also of his decorative sash on the area of his tunic, showing that he had been corporal rougher.

Secretary Hall is proud of the Veterans' and of their present good financial standing. At the commencement of this year they had $200 in the bank; he has since added $240 in death allowances, as well as all the current expenses, and there is $650 still in the bank. Mr. Hall's residence is 150 St. Andrew-street, contains many oil paintings, and he is proud of his military records. In his latest week's account of ex-President John Nunn a detail has been stated that his regiment left Hamilton in 1867, not 1877, for Montreal.
