

YONGE STREET

OAK HALL $0.98

SUITS SALE ON SATURDAY

Here's the chance of the season—Men's broken lot and odd suit sale on Saturday will afford a man the opportunity of buying a stylish suit for himself in Scotch Tweeds and Fancy English Worsteds that were marked all the way from 12.00 to 18.00, for..... 9.98

SEE THE VARIOUS SIZES IN THESE LOTS YOU'VE STRUCK A GREAT SNAP—

BOYS' 3.00 to 4.50 SUITS for 1.98

A bigger bargain still in a price way in the Boys' Department—Stylish little suits, in sizes 20 to 26 inch chest—that are worth 3.00—3.50—4.00 and 4.50— for..... 1.98

They're in the window, too—SEE THEM.

MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY FILLED—

Be Sure You Address 116 Yonge St.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

HAMILTON NEWS

Remember, THE MORNING WORLD is Delivered to Any Address in Hamilton for 25 Cents a Month. Phone 804.

TO-DAY IN HAMILTON.

Spicing race meeting.
Art School Directors' meeting, 5 p.m.
Sewers Committee, 8 p.m.
Trades and Labor Council, 8 p.m.

PASTORS AT LOGGERSHEADS

One Hamilton Divine Calls Another's Opinions a "Piece of Impudence and Brass."

MONEY PROVOKED DISCUSSION

And Some Rather Plain Talk About the Financial Duties of Preachers Followed.

Hamilton, June 5.—At this afternoon session of the Niagara and Hamilton regular Baptist Association, there was some rather plain talk about the financial duties of preachers. It rose out of a paper, "Methods of Raising Money," read by Pastor A.F. Green of Niagara Falls. Pastor Green gave it as his opinion that some of his brethren were "cowardly" in the way they shirked their duty as collectors of cash for the churches of which they were the heads. They made the financial interests secondary, which, he thought, was not right. The paper precipitated a warm discussion, and Pastor T. Shields of this city characterized Pastor Green's outpouring as a "piece of impudence and brass."

A resolution condemning smoking was passed, and the opinion was expressed that some of the pastors and deacons ought to set the young a better example in this regard.

A Master for Teachers.

At the meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

EAT Life Chips

The Modern Breakfast Food.

Prepared Ready to Eat.

Made from Malted Wheat.

"In conjunction with this food drink Caramel Cereal and sleep well, it saves the nerves."

MR. TARTE'S STRENUOUS WORK OF COLONIES IN WAR

Continued From Page 1.

absentee thru indisposition of Vice-President Tarte, who was to do so, and it was honored by the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow." The number of delegates who had registered was 141, and they were all jolly good fellows in the true sense of the term. Mr. Robertson, president of the St. John Board, the first heard in response, delivered a stirring address on the magnificent reception tendered the descendants of the founders of this country meeting in convention to promote the common interests and to strengthen the empire. He went thru the battle of Confederation. In those days the motto of "Canada first" was vigorously presented. But what a change to-day!

Mr. Robertson, president of the Winnipeg Board, next acknowledged the kindness of the Board of Toronto for the magnificent reception tendered the delegates. He would say that Winnipeg hoped to be able to welcome the delegates there in the near future.

Mr. Masson and Mr. Robert Munro, Montreal, made felicitous replies after which the Toronto Board of Trade to Hon. Mr. Ross and to the city of Toronto for kind and generous hospitality.

"The Resources and Prospects of Canada" was then proposed by J. D. Allan in appropriate terms, and the speaker, wards striking up "The Land of the Maple."

Hon. Mr. Ross Received.

Hon. G. W. Ross, first called up, was enthusiastically received. He was delighted to receive the delegates from the captains of industry from all over the Dominion. It was a happy thought on the part of the Dominion Board of Trade to have this great commercial congress assemble here as a representative of the Dominion, and if we did our duty faithfully there was no danger of any part of the world going to the wall. Before this century would close Canada would be the basis of food supply for the continent of Europe. America would soon have to come to Canada for her timber supply. And what was true of Canada was true of the rest of Europe. The forest wealth was a subject that might well engage the attention of our people.

Let Canada Be Confident.

Continuing, Hon. Mr. Ross quoted figures to show an increase in our wealth during the past ten years. This, he pointed out, encouraging to the economic condition of the Dominion, and he pointed out that it would be a factor in the establishment of industries and development of our resources in the future. He deprecated timidity on our part when undertaking industries which he considered to be the best means to accomplish their purpose. They ought to take courage and feel that no problem was considered too great for the minds of our commercial men was too great to grapple with. We should lift our eyes up and not be content with the narrow limits of our own island. We should be in the world, and there was a splendid combination which was blending into a Canadian race, and the result of this combination was that the institutions had established for its own advantage.

Build Ships Here.

Mr. Ross went on to deal with the importance of our transportation, which he also considered to be the best means of developing trade. Years ago, Great Britain, in commencing her commercial career, only had one mode of transport before her: Canada to-day was commencing with the map of the world to the total number of ships in the world, and to have our own ferries. Any country that considered itself to be a part of the world, should be prepared to build her ships here, and manufacture our resources into the finished product.

At the arbitration to discover the value of the toll roads the country desired to buy, Engineers Hillman and Jennings have given it as their opinion that the Stoney Creek road is worth $34,000. Mr. Hillman estimates that the road could be duplicated these times, by means of modern machinery, for $24,000.

Police Points.

At the Police Court, Harry Basket, a colored race tout, came up on the charge of stealing two hats, valued at $16, belonging to Joseph Hall of the Mountain View Hotel. The case was enlarged till tomorrow.

Arthur Hobbs, charged with assaulting Lizzie Irvine, and sent up for trial, has been bailed out in $100.

The police are looking for a young man named Alfred Cross, employed by Angus Wilson, live-in man. He is accused of carrying off a well-dressed purse left in a carriage by a customer.

Try Noble's new restaurant, ed. At present there is no indication of a meeting of the City Council being held next Tuesday.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Jean Vincent, only daughter of the late Rev. Edward Vincent, to George Benjamin Love of Penn Yan, N. Y., in Macdonald-street Presbyterian Church, on June 10.

George A. Corman, Salford, is suing the H. G. & R. Co. for unpaid wages for the death of a horse, and smashing of a buggy thru the alleged negligence of the company's employees, during two months ago.

Hamilton society news in this week's Toronto Sunday World.

At the meeting of the Board of Education, considerable discussion arose over the question of the appointment of a writing and drawing master, to succeed Mr. Foster, resigned. Some of the trustees thought the present system of promotions was bad, and that promotions should be made every six months, instead of every twelve months. Other trustees thought there should be a writing master for the teachers, who, in turn, should teach the pupils. Others suggested that the head masters should go among the other classes in their schools, instead of sticking to their own. Nothing definite was done beyond deciding to advise for a writing and drawing master, to be appointed at the end of the year, and to be recommended to close the schools on June 25 and re-open on Sept. 2. At the request of N. D. Galbraith, for the city improvement society, it was decided to recommend that the teachers give five-minute talks weekly to the pupils on the care of lawns, boulevards and flowers.

No Quorum.

The Board of Health was called to meet this afternoon, but there was no quorum.

The Library Board held a brief regular session this afternoon, and endorsed the business done at the special meeting held on May 29.

William Martin, a colored tout, was arrested this afternoon at the race track by Detective Campbell. He is charged with stealing $8 from Samuel Larmer, a farmer, who lives on the mountain.

E. S. Secord was arrested to-night at the instance of the Brantford police.

MR. TARTE'S STRENUOUS WORK OF COLONIES IN WAR

Continued From Page 1.

diets to starve in order to honor the favorite of their corrupt society." His statement was greeted with shouts of "Sit down," "Name him!" and "Name him!" while the Irish members jeeringly advised the ministerialists to call in the police.

Amid the din, Mr. Redmond was heard to say that the House was disgracing itself, in consequence of the fact that the British forces in South Africa, while allowing the men who had fought their battles, were making itself ridiculous in the eyes of the world, by a motion proposing to celebrate some great feat of arms.

Pandemonium Rained.

Mr. Redmond's remarks were almost inaudible, owing to the uproar caused by the cheers of the Irish Nationalists and the protests of the members of other parties.

The chairman replied to Mr. Redmond's appeal for a hearing that it was impossible to control the House, to which his speech appeared to be directed.

After a quarter of an hour spent by Mr. Redmond in a fruitless endeavor to obtain a hearing, the speaker moved and adopted by 273 to 138 votes, and the grant to Lord Kitchener of £200,000 to £400,000. The minority consisted of Irish Nationalists and two or three Radicals.

When Mr. Balfour rose to move a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the army of South Africa, he was interrupted by the Irish Nationalists, as a protest against the treatment of the soldiers of the British Empire. The House of Commons, William Court Gully, thereupon appeared, and asked for freedom of debate, which John Redmond, the Irish speaker, returned that he would not grant it.

Mr. Balfour then allowed the exact parallel for the motion. Never before had an army beyond the seas, never before had she fought such a great campaign without allies and she had never been so gloriously victorious as she was in the world.

Mr. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, second in command, he said, he hoped there would be a jarring note in the parliamentary appreciation of the services of those who upheld the valor of the British army in South Africa.

Mr. Balfour's motion, which included an expression of condolence with the bereaved, was adopted by 382 to 42.

The Prince of Wales and many peers were present in the House of Commons on Tuesday afternoon. Lord Salisbury moved a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the motion was carried, specially mentioned the colonial premiers, and paid a tribute to the splendid services of the British Empire.

Mr. Balfour, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks to the officers and men of the imperial army, and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more colonial loyalty had manifested itself.

It was shown that when the country was in the grip of a great calamity, the Empire was never safer than when it was in the grip of a great calamity.

Earl Spencer, who had the honor of announcing the vote of thanks