A brook came tumbling down, with little pools and waterfalls running and tumbling down to the big river, and Father Coon said: "Cousin Bruin, how could you build your great stone house so far up on the mountain? It must have been very hard to carry stone so far up." But Cousin Bruin just laughed and said, "Well, I found my house all ready for me. It was built by Mr. Wind and Mr. Storm and Mr. Rain, and there I live all winter with my two sons, and they are good boys and never give me a bit of trouble.

So Cousin Bruin and his companions trudged through the woods, and they soon came to the mountain side. Here, a tiny little trail, made by the bears, and not to be seen by anyone else, led up and up.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this wasta material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins, which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream through the lymph ducts, which should suck only nourishment to such
