

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Concerning Vague Rumors

When a few years ago we were launched into what we then called the picturesque phase, probably no one imagined that this "phase" would have no many sub-phases, and pass from one and of picturesqueness to another, over and over again, until we have almost ceased to imagine that silks could have ever been stiff and stand alone. Over and over again during this picturesque period we have thought the rebound was coming, but with always a dread that it would not, with a dread that it wouldn't. So delightfully has fashion varied her picturesqueness we have never yet been worried. Has she wandered over all history and both hemispheres for ideas? And even the rumors which are just now floating around, of a reversion to the groove of the reign of Louis XIV., of stiff, rich fabrics and aggressive full skirts, we are taking with a big pinch of salt. It may come, but fashion proposes and woman disposes. Of course, I quite see that fashion must suggest something different, if only to make us more determined not to get out of the groove we find agreeable, and I know that the buyers for the great stores deliberately purchase models that are extreme, just to have something new to show the customer. There are scores of people who thoroughly enjoy the superior sensation of rejecting something, so perhaps fashion is going to suggest gathered skirts and rich stuffs just with the motive of making us stay where we are already.

Possibility of Stiff Skirts

Just think of renouncing all the delicious evening frocks to which the latest version of the picturesque phase has brought us, these long swirling lines of dark gauziness with their gleaming touches of gold and silver and pearls, and low, graceful haldresses. Why, with stiff stuffs we should have to twist our hair again into topknots, with high things shooting up from the collar, I say again, it may come but I for one am not ready for it yet. I know, indeed, I don't know anyone that is. Who wants to look like a Velasquez or a Vandeyke portrait, much as we appreciate the art of these great masters? Think of renouncing chameuse or crepe chameuse, its later version, for flowered brocade. "Not me!" I declare, and emphasize and re-emphasize. If fashion would have us look like Louis Treize, she shouldn't have suggested some of those same dark gauziness that we have encountered lately. I am thinking of one in malachite green net, mounted over silver tissue, and with embroidered mainly of pearls and a little silver and black jet.

TO SAVE BLYTHE'S NECK

Counsel Will Try to Secure a Reserve Case.

To have the death penalty commuted to life imprisonment is why T. C. Robinson will have all the address of Justice Riddell closely examined to see if there is any in which he requested a reserve case can be asked for. All the evidence is being extended from the time he was sent to the minister of justice.

TWO GUILTY OF MURDER

But Jury in Sensational Paris Case Find Extenuating Circumstances.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Renard and Courtois, respectively a steward and a footman, the latter a mere boy, employed by the late August Reiny, a wealthy banker, were found guilty of the murder of the banker. Renard was sentenced for imprisonment for life, and Courtois for 20 years of imprisonment. The jury found extenuating circumstances.

There was intense interest in the case August Reiny was attacked by a death in his home in the Rue de la Peupliers last June. The killing was done with a desert knife and a large quantity of blood was shed. The case was taken. Courtois had confessed to participating. The evidence was sensational and at times disgusting.

INSANE PATIENTS NEED AIR

Richard H. Hutchings of Ogdensburg, N.Y., says that tuberculosis is one of the prevalent causes of death in hospitals for the insane.

Among men have it. It is most frequent among those of the insane whose condition comes from the lungs. Some of the wards and with little employment. Among the men who are able to be employed on the farm out of doors, the disease is comparatively infrequent. This is also the case in asylums at high altitude, where all patients can have the benefit of the open air. Some of the cases of tuberculosis have the disease when they enter the asylum, and such patients may be segregated under special wards. Others take the disease while in the institution. The remedy for this state of things is the recognition that such patients should be treated in special wards and given special out-door treatment. All patients should be employed daily in the open air as much as possible. Patients confined to the wards should be warmly dressed and the air kept fresh by means of open windows.

HOPE FOR THE "BAD LANDS"

The United States bureau of soils has just finished what will prove in all probability one of the most important investigations affecting agricultural conditions in the fertile northwest. The investigation is the result of a reconnaissance soil survey in western North Dakota, authorized by the last session of congress, approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, and inaugurated by Dr. Milton Whitney, chief of the bureau of soils, and a force of trained soil experts. The report of the result of the investigation is now in course of preparation, and will prove of interest not only to the settlers of that section of the great northwest but to possible investors who now have their eye as well as their ear turned in that direction.

Cure of Inebriates.

Dr. Roselbach, medical examiner of the Ontario Society for Reformation of Inebriates, will report at the annual meeting this month that of the 115 inebriates given medical treatment 10, or over 42 per cent, are doing well.

TRAIN FOR BUSINESS

Most men train their brains and almost entirely neglect their bodies. They do not seem to realize that keenness of judgment and clearness of thought depend as much on the body as on the brain itself. Any man can prove this to his own satisfaction by attempting to decide a weighty business problem while suffering with an acute attack of indigestion or a violent spell of biliousness.

The amount of work that the brain can do depends much on the health of the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They act directly on the bowels, kidneys and skin, and enable these vital organs to rid the system of all impurities. Thus the blood will be rid of the high, the brain active, digestion sound, and life made pleasant.

"Fruit-a-tives" are now put up in two sizes—the new 25c box as well as the regular 50c size. If your dealer does not carry them, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE PREMIER DENIES

No Truth in Published Rumors Regarding Colonization Department.

"I would like to correct the impression that has apparently gone abroad," said Premier Whitney yesterday, "with reference to the alleged colonization project of the government."

The question of filling Mr. Southworth's place has not even been discussed by the cabinet, and no rumor in relation to it has any foundation. Mr. Downey has not been mentioned or spoken of for the place and naturally feels aggrieved that he should be placed in such a position without suggestion or desire on his part.

BETRAYED A TRUST

Manufacturer Found Guilty of Theft From Estate.

J. R. Yost, a pickle manufacturer, was found guilty yesterday by Judge Winchester of stealing $227 from the estate of the late Charles Kiench of Berlin. Yost was the executor of the estate, valued at $8000, and the judge found that he had misappropriated a $2000 mortgage for his own use and also took interest amounting to $227.

According to Yost's story Mrs. Kiench gave him permission to use the money and altogether he used about $1200, and when the interest was asked for by the widow he told her it was in the business.

The woman denied, however, that she gave Yost permission to use the money. Sentence was deferred for a week in order to give the defence time to produce character evidence.

BOY GOT TOBACCO

But Not in the Way Staff Inspector Had Thought He Did.

In afternoon court yesterday, Magistrate Rogers sentenced a boy, aged 12, to 15 days in the house of correction for stealing tobacco from a store.

Staff Inspector Archibald wanted a charge pressed against Morrow.

"Nonsense," said the magistrate, who laughed when the inspector said something about it being "a premium on perjury."

Dr. Landone sprang into prominence recently by his discussion upon the effect of employing the principles of Luther Burbank's plant culture to human beings.

"We have just begun to understand," he says, "the reflex action of one part of the human system upon another. Glances of this important fact are obtained here and there through operations. It is quite possible, for instance, to build up the brain cell by means of the development of certain muscles. Backward or defective children, it will usually be found, have some kind of muscular defect, and if that is overcome their mental condition will appreciably improve."

Dr. Landone declared that he had thoroughly tried his theories upon animals of all kinds, and had verified the results by postmortem examinations.

TOP FLOOR ROOMS BEST.

It is common knowledge that at the ordinary level of the highway we practically exist in a sediment of bacteria. Higher up analysis gives a more satisfactory account. Chemistry also shows considerable impurities in the air at the ground level compared with the air at a small elevation, above. It follows that the air of buildings would be worst on the ground floor, and men (it would gradually show improvement as the floors above are reached until the cleanest air of all would be shown on the top floor. Moreover, the health-giving properties of sunlight are more likely to be realized on the top floor than on any floor below. These facts, the Lancet argues, render the policy of hotelkeepers and others, now that lifts are so much in vogue, perfectly illogical, which is that higher prices for rooms on the lower floors should be charged than for the rooms on the higher floors.

It has decided that inoculation as a preventive against typhoid has been so thoroughly demonstrated in foreign countries, and its efficacy so well established, that the vaccination method is to be adopted in the United States army.

An Exception.

Of course when we resolved to be more conservative in interest in the Paris, a new company will be created, probably under the laws of the state of New Jersey.

Penalty for Shoplifting.

Mabel Bennett, married, will serve ten days in jail for theft from the Eaton Company. She was a second offence. Her counsel pleaded that she had been ill.

CANADA'S DIVORCE LAWS COURTS ARE SUGGESTED

Numerous Applications for Consideration of the Senate—Present Difficulties for Applicants.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—One of the most noticeable features of the legislative bill of fare this session is the long list of divorce applications which await hearing before the senate—almost as many as were granted in the first twenty sessions after Confederation. Perhaps it is because of the rapid increase in population, or perhaps the explanation is to be found in the increased wealth of the people, which has brought divorce within the means of many persons who in years gone by were deterred therefrom by reason of considerable expense that is involved.

According to the last census returns, there were 337 divorced males and 224 divorced females in Canada eight years ago. But from the records of the Dominion Parliament, and of the divorce cases which exist in the marriage provinces and in British Columbia it is perfectly clear that a comparatively small proportion of these obtained their divorce in this country. Ontario was credited in the census return with 229 divorced persons, of whom twenty-one made their home in Toronto.

But how many of these so-called dissolutions of the marriage tie really confer the right on the parties concerned to contract a second marriage? It was stated in a parliamentary debate which took place in the year that the census was taken that there are some forty to fifty persons in Toronto who, if the law were rigidly enforced, would be precluded from bigamy. This number was possibly an exaggeration.

Nevertheless, the question is one of considerable moment. What is the objection to a divorce by the Dominion Parliament, and how can such objection best be overcome? One objection undoubtedly lies in the question of cost. The average divorce application before the senate costs from $500 to $600, and this is a good deal more than the average husband or wife can ordinarily afford. Notice of the application has to be published six months prior to the presentation of the evidence before parliament. What need can there possibly be for such delay? All witnesses have to be brought to Ottawa. Might not the evidence of witnesses at distant points be taken under oath by competent judicial officers, and transmitted to Ottawa?

It has been repeatedly proposed in the house of commons that parliament should have legal jurisdiction in all cases of divorce, and that it should be empowered to provide for the establishment of divorce courts in Ontario, Quebec, and the three maritime provinces, which no divorce courts at present exist. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia had legal jurisdiction when they entered the confederation, and have never given it up.

In the early years of the confederation the applications did not average more than one each session, and the total number granted from 1867 down till 1888 was twenty-six. But the record shows that of more recent years the number has been considerably increased. Between 1888 and 1894, a period of twelve years, the number of divorces granted was thirty-five, and this session, if the applications are all granted, the number will be twenty-four.

LOSES $2000 SUIT

Mrs. Devlin Got Hurt by Auto, But Jury Says She Was at Fault.

Damages to the extent of over $2000 were asked by Mrs. Rosetta Devlin against Thos. Pickard for injuries received as the result of being run into by an automobile.

The bill as put in by the lawyer was nicely itemized: Doctor's bill $11; dress destroyed $10; using downstairs room at $2.50 per week; $50; drug bill $2; daughter's time as nurse $20; pain and suffering $2000. The case was heard before Justice Riddell, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Pickard declared the woman walked right into the auto while stepping off a car. Plaintiff said the auto was running at a great rate of speed and that no warning was given.

TO TRAIN BOYS TO LIKE PLANTS

Boys with hands which are destructive whenever they come in contact with the works of a clock or a piano will be much better after they have had Dr. Leon Elbert Landone build up their constructive and non-destructive brain cells.

Dr. Landone sprang into prominence recently by his discussion upon the effect of employing the principles of Luther Burbank's plant culture to human beings.

"We have just begun to understand," he says, "the reflex action of one part of the human system upon another. Glances of this important fact are obtained here and there through operations.
