Wheat—The action of the market to-day was a complete puzzle to the trade generally. The final result shows that there must have been heavy selling of long wheat at the advance above 115. The traders became overloaded and sold out before the close. There is a large open long interest for eastern account, which we believe is at treesent playing an in-and-out sort of game came overloaded and sold out before the close. There is a large open long interest for eastern account, which we believe is at present playing an in-and-out sort of game by buying on days of weakness and selling on days of strength.

Corn—The cables from Liverpool were firm. This factor, together with the early strength in wheat, caused a general demand for the May option. December was neglected. Receipts are only moderate at present, but will undoubtedly be marketed next week. We think prices should decline in the month of January.

Oats—Receipts very small, only 35 cars in to-day, with 41 estimated for to-morrow. The outlook is for very steady market.

Provisions—Apparently there is no buying power in provisions, and the market is a continual daily disappointment in this respect. The bearish attitude of the packers is one of the features which make it difficult to advance prices as yet.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell, McKinnon Building:

Wheat—There has been a tremendous trade in wheat. The New York coterie of owners of wheat haev been given credit for buying large quantities, while local longs, as well as those at Minneapolis and St.

Louis, that trade here, have quite generally sold. There is a suspicion that some of the latter at least have abandoned the buying side for the present. Liverpool prices were higher and Minneapolis stocks showed the first decrease to-day that they have shown this season. Early prices were sharply higher here, but all of the advance and more was lost later. A single house—Knight-Donnelly—has taken most of the December to-day. Wheat has had a good brak to-day, and we look for a reaction to-morrow.

Corn—Corn opend higher with wheat, and because of lighter receipts here, and Wheat—Red and white are worth 98c, middle freight; spring, 93c, middle freight; goose, 86c to 87c; Manitoba defended with selling a great deal of wheat to distribute the same house that was credited with selling a great deal of wheat for itself or for New York sold corn heavily. Early prices were not maintained. Only be a sold for a reaction to-morrow.

Conn lose of to day, and we look for a reaction to-morrow.

Conn—Corn opened higher with wheat. And the advance of $\frac{3}{2}$ do to $\frac{
