

be given to the poor people, and district visitors might be able to meet their charges oftener.

These Bands might in turn visit the Homes and distribute flowers and fruit bought by their own savings. We are convinced that successful work can only be done when the children are doing some good work, and that some simple work suited to children, care being taken so that they be not filled with self-importance through a work intended for older people.

THE WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION.

Meetings began middle of October and discontinued middle of April owing to the absence of so many members from sickness and removal. One parcel of work given to the Ladies' Aid to be sent away valued at $14. Value of finished work on hand, $18.

YOUNG MEN'S SOCIETY.

We are glad to be able to say that the interest in the Society has increased from the first day, and the attendance for the last month was larger than at the opening.

Much care has been exercised in training the members to enable them to speak in public, and these efforts have been rewarded by a marked improvement.

We have had several good essays. One lecture by a member.

If this Society is to do the work it should do, the business men and the professional men must be willing to come amongst us, and give the experience and information required to make it profitable.

A number of the members are workers in the Parish.

We have had two public debates and two "At Homes."

MISS M. JOSEPH'S GUILD.

The Guild met weekly on Tuesday evenings during the first half of winter. The attendance was large and encouraging. The meetings were occupied with work, readings, music, etc.

The work resulted in a box of clothing, toys, etc., valued at $50, and sent to the Rev. Mr. Whatham's Mission at Cheddar. The children at this distant and secluded place were greatly delighted with the contents of the box. Let the Guild "Thank God and talk courage."
