

Mind Babies and Cash Checks on Budd's Railway

Chicago—Warming milk for a baby, wrapping a passenger's mangled finger, even cashing a check for a worthy-looking person who must ride—these are part of the day's work for Britton L. Budd's conductors, just as much as collecting tickets.

Budd thus explains why the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee railroad was picked to receive the Charles A. Coffin medal. This is for "distinguished contribution to the development of electric transportation for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

Road Rejuvenated.

It also helps explain the road's attainment of this honor in the seven years since Budd assumed control of the line with equipment, morale and prestige broken by a decade under receivership.

"We set a high standard for the road, and appealed to our employees' pride to reach and maintain it," explains President Budd. "Our men are working to give more than is required, to make the passenger feel like a guest and a friend."

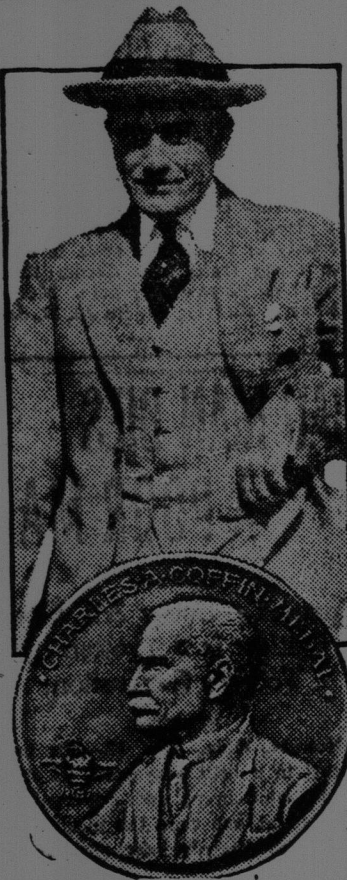

"We set out to develop the best electric railroad in the United States. It takes a goal to work toward, if definite results are to be accomplished. Today, I believe honestly that a majority of our men feel they are working for the best road."

Both Sides Help.

The company is doing its share in co-operation, too. Recently, the conductors and motormen were given a pay increase not called for in the wage agreement effective June 1. "The company is doing well," was the explanation given. Stock is sold employees on installment payments, in addition to the usual student loan funds, clubs, classes, etc.

A $1,000 prize went with the Coffin award. It went into the employees benefit fund. And so it goes, with good will on both sides.

"The service which won the Coffin medal is the result of team work all along the line, and not any individual starling," Budd informs those who would praise him. "A company may have all the money it can possibly spend on improvements, etc., but it can't succeed unless it has the co-operative spirit of its employees in their work."

BISHOP ATTENDS CLOSE OF DEVOTIONS

His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc closed the forty hours' devotions last evening at St. Peter's church, with the procession and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. He was assisted by Rev. J. Woods, C.S.S.R., and Rev. A. McDonald, C.S.S.R. There were 150 children in the procession, which was a solemn ceremony and very beautiful. The little girls were all in white with veils, wreaths and red sashes. The choir, under the direction of Rev. G. A. Coffin, C.S.S.R., furnished suitable music. Owing to the length of the service no sermon was preached.

The devotions began on Friday and solemn high mass was celebrated each morning by Rev. Father Woods, Rev. Father Coffin and Rev. Francis Hill, respectively, in the order named. Last evening the church was filled to capacity.

GOES OVERSEAS.

On Saturday afternoon about 2:30 a man acting rather strangely in Gilbert's Lane. The officer learned that he had in his possession a ticket for Scotland and took him to police headquarters. Officer Dykeman was then assigned to look after the man and escorted him to Sand Point, where he was placed on board the Canadian Pacific Line steamer Marloch, which sailed during the evening for Glasgow, Scotland. His having a ticket for overseas proved a handy means of "deportation."

It's the Blade that Counts.

In the last quarter—score tied—everyone "on their toes"—each man on both teams straining for an advantage, and using his last ounce of energy toward one purpose—to "bulge" the net and score the winning "counter."

That's when the skate blade counts—it must have just the right "edge" that it has early in the game—it must grip the hard ice sufficiently to give you the speed advantage over your opponent.

In moments like this the skates are all important—games have been won or lost on the efficiency or inefficiency of a single player's skates.

That's why, year after year, hockey players, whose names are almost household words, stick to STARR Skates with their correctly tempered blades—the blades that hold their "edge" long after ordinary skates are dull.

IN FUNERAL DRESS COMMITTS SUICIDE

Eighty-one-year-old Man
Ends His Life With Gas.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Dec. 17.—Dressed in his best black suit, a stiff bosomed white shirt, a standing collar and a black bow tie, Sumner Chalker, 81 years old, one time a piano salesman, was found dead in his room in the rooming house of Miss Norah Dwyer at 405 Hightown street, New Rochelle. He had committed suicide with illuminating gas.

After washing and dressing for burial, the aged man had opened the window of his room, so that the gas would not get into the other rooms, placed a light table with a pillow under the gas jet and lay down with a gas tube clutched in his hands, the end of the tube in his mouth. Then he covered himself completely with a thick quilt from his bed.

Mr. Chalker for sixteen years was caretaker of Trinity Parish House, New Rochelle, where he lived with his wife, who died about three years ago. At her death he moved to the present address, and was employed doing odd jobs at the Parish House and in the neighborhood.

MAY PLAY WITH ABBIES.

"Chick" Williams, former Charlottetown Abbies star, now member of the Maple Club, of the Boston League, will probably play with the Islanders against the Granites at St. John, Jan. 10. Williams is endeavoring to get permission from the United States Association to join his old mates.
