POWDERED NOSES MEAN "SLAPPED FACES" IN ZION.

Zion City, Ill. Jan. 20.—Powdered noses shall be the sign of modesty and virtue in Zion hereafter. Such was the decree of Overseer William Glenn Voliva. "This Tabernacle is not a boudoir," he said. "You will come here unpowdered and you'll cover your bodies as my grandmother covered hers or I'll lecture you and slap your faces, instead of powdering them."

DOG SAVES FOUR LIVES

Loses His Own in Fire—
Barking Awakens Family,
But He is Strangled by Smoke.

Quincy, Mass., Jan. 20.—Another name must be added to the long list of faithful dogs that have laid down their lives for their friends. Mickey, a Quincy dog of 1888 Hancock st saved four lives, but he lost his own, and as a result, in one family this morning there was thankfulness mingled with gratitude to the family friend and grief at his loss.

Mickey's heroism, like that of so many other dogs, consisted in discovering fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Myatt. They were awakened by Mickey's frantic barking to find the room full of smoke, and on going to the windows discovered that the whole rear of the house was a mass of flames, from which there was little time to escape.

Arousing their two little daughters, Margaret, 7 years old, and Florence, 4, Mr. and Mrs. Myatt, with some difficulty, made their way to the street and found refuge with a neighbor, Mrs. Joseph Bruce.

It was supposed that Mickey escaped with them, for when they left the apartment he followed behind, choking and coughing in the thick smoke. When Capt. Faircloth of Engine 1 and a crew of men went through the rooms, however, eliminating the last traces of fire before the all-out sounded, they discovered the body of Mickey lying where he had dropped and strangled, too overcome with smoke to follow to safety those whose lives he had saved.

The fire caused damage estimated at $600 to the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Myatt, and to the periodical and newspaper store beneath it, occupied by Abbie S. Feltis, where the fire apparently started. The building is of wood and is even the center of a nest of wooden business blocks, constituting a danger which kept the firemen busy preventing the spread of the blaze. Their difficulties were doubled by the high wind, and all those who helped extinguish the blaze suffered considerably from ice, cold and smoke.

John Barton, one of the firemen, was almost overcome by smoke, but after recovering in the cold air insisted on going back into the building and finishing the fight. Because of the danger of the spreading of the fire the men had to work at close quarters and most of them were soon covered with ice.

Mr. and Mrs. Myatt said this morning they felt certain Mickey followed them to the street, and expressed the opinion that when the firemen went up the stairs into the living apartments the dog must have followed after them.

It developed when daylight came that the fruit store of P. K. Koury, adjoining the Feltis store, was the worst damaged. All the stock of fruit was ruined and hundreds of baked apples with their jackets split open on account of the heat were strewn about, as were baked bananas and potatoes. A marble soda fountain was badly damaged and Mr. Koury estimated his loss at $4000.

The loss in the Myatt apartment was about $800, and the damage to the Feltis store was estimated by members of the firm at $1000. Miss Abbie Feltis, proprietress of the news store, said the stove in her apartment was fixed for the night when she left and she doubted the fire started in her place.

The Myatt children were inconsolable today because of the death of their Boston terrier playmate Mickey, who saved the family from being burned to death and then lost his own life.

CHORUS STRIKES ON SMOKING.
New York, Jan. 30.—The latest thing in strikes came from the chorus of "Jimmie" at the Apollo Theatre when six girls objected to smoking cigarettes in the cabaret scene and vowed they would throw up their jobs before they puffed the noxious weed. A compromise was effected whereby they agreed to smoke a brand that is even less than one-half of 1 per cent. tobacco.

GAMBLING TO COST MORE.
