POOR DOCUMENT

FOR DYSPEPSIA,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is an effective remedy, as numerous testimonials conclusively prove. "For two years I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and liver complaint. I doctored a long time and the medicines prescribed, in nearly every case, only aggravated the disease. An apothecary advised me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and was cured at a cost of $5. Since that time it has been my family medicine, and sickness has become a stranger to our household. I believe it to be the best medicine on earth." —P. F. McNulty, Hackman, 29 Summer st., Lowell, Mass.

FOR DEBILITY,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is a certain cure, when the complaint originates in impoverished blood. "I was a great sufferer from a low condition of the blood and general debility, becoming finally, so reduced that I was unfit for work. Nothing that I did for the complaint helped me so much as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a few bottles of which restored me to health and strength. I take every opportunity to recommend this medicine in similar cases."—C. Evick, 14 E. Main st., Chillicothe, Ohio.

FOR ERUPTIONS

And all disorders originating in impurity of the blood, such as boils, carbuncles, pimples, blotches, salt-rheum, scald-head, scrofulous sores, and the like, take only

THE NEW YEAR.

The GAZETTE takes this opportunity of wishing all its friends, and there are many thousands of them, A Happy New Year. The year begins auspiciously so far as weather is concerned and although we cannot always expect to have sunshine let us hope to have a reasonable share of it and of happiness as well. The great thought that fills the breast of almost every person at this period is the uncertainty of life and the consideration that this may be the last New Year to us. Every man and every woman lives under a sentence of death, and although its execution may be long delayed, it is sure to come. Yet it is fortunate that the buoyancy of spirits, which most healthy men and women possess, prevents the thought of this from interfering with their happiness to any considerable extent. And although the loss of life may appear to the young the direst of calamities, there are thousands who are weary of it and to whom [illegible]e is a burden, which they would [illegible]ly aside. "I would not live alw[illegible] wrote the poet almost three centur[illegible] ago and this thought has come sinc[illegible] then to many minds not naturally inclined to gloomy views. After all the true secret of life is to make the most of it, to keep the mind in healthy tone by the active and energetic pursuit of the world's business and of such pleasures as are proper to be indulged in. A mind thus trained is in the best possible condition to face the exigencies of life no matter in what form they may come, and to receive the final summons with manly fortitude. The GAZETTE trusts that but few of its readers may have such a summons during the year which begins today, but hopes that those who are destined to receive it may have their [illegible] minds so strengthened that [illegible] them unprepared nor [illegible] own the burden of [illegible] the dark portals of [illegible] must be forever [illegible] manity.

[illegible]UMBER TRADE.

[illegible] of Mr. J. B. Snowball, which has come to hand [illegible]resting statistics of the [illegible] New Brunswick and Nova [illegible] past year. We learn [illegible]e exports of deals from the [illegible]vince for 1890 were 38,000 St. Petersburg standards less than last year and 9,000 standards below the average of the past ten years. The decrease was general from all the ports of New Brunswick except Richibucto but the largest falling off has been at St. John 24,000 and at Miramichi 11,000 St. Petersburg standard. The shipments from St. John to Liverpool fell off 45 per cent. and from Miramichi to Liverpool 63 per cent. while there was no decrease in shipments to the Irish ports and a large increase to the continent of Europe. There is now being wintered at Miramichi 10,000 standards of merchantable deals equal to 5,000 in logs, but the winter operations in the forest are small and the extimated productions will not exceed two thirds of last year. The stock now held in St. John amounts to about 10,000 standard in sawn woods and about 14,000 standards in logs a portion of which is for the South American markets. The total exports of spruce to the trans-Atlantic parts from New Brunswick for the year amounted to 293,364,928 superficial feet; from Nova Scotia 99,512,924 superfical feet; and from Quebec 109,328,340 superficial feet. The total trans-Atlantic lumber shipments of New Brunswick in 1889 compared with 1890, were as follows:—

Ports.	1889 Sup. ft. deals, etc.	1889 Tons Timber	1890 Sup. ft. deals, etc.	1890 Tons Timber.
Miramichi	109,669,913	825	87,638,256	13
St. John	180,167,488	7,708	132,608,516	5,628
Bathurst	15,578,454		10,204,103
Dalhousie including Camp'b't'n	23,502,348	796	22,114,275	588
Richibucto including Buctouche	13,084,793		14,945,707
Shediac	12,176,273		11,780,071
Sackville	14,852,000		14,074,000
Total	369,031,274	9,329	293,364,928	6,229

The principal shippers of deals from St. John were W. M. McKay 58,925,400 sup., feet; A. Gibson 56,108,070 sup., feet and G. McKean 16,600,763 sup., feet. The principal deal shippers from Miramichi were J. B. Snowball, 23,976,126 sup., feet, W. M. McKay 20,044,505 and D. & J. Ritchie 11,016,319. Mr. Snowball expresses the opinion that on account of the heavy tax imposed by the government the province of New Brunswick is fast losing the monopoly it so long held of the best of the spruce trade, and states that while our export has so largely decreased the trade of Nova Scotia and Quebec shows a marked increase for the past seven years. We take from Mr. Snowball's circular the following statement of the shipments of deals from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to trans-Atlantic ports from 1882 to 1890 inclusive. The figures are in millions of superficial feet:—

	New Brunswick	Nova Scotia.
1882	376 Millions	85 Millions.
1883	411 "	77 "
1884	333 "	69 "
1885	292 "	79 "
1886	276 "	87 "
1887	250 "	82 "
1888	277 "	85 "
1889	369 "	92 "
1890	293 "	99 "

These figures hardly bear out the statement that Nova Scotia is supplanting New Brunswick in the deal trade for while the increase of Nova Scotia deal exports between 1882 and 1890 has been only 14 millions the decrease of New Brunswick exports has been 83 millions. The truth of the matter is our deal exports have always been subject to great fluctuations. Between 1881 and 1885, our deal exports declined 102 millions, and it must be remembered that while our deal exports for 1890 were smaller than in 1889 they were larger than for either 1885, 1886, 1887 or 1888. The following statement of the shipments of deals from St. John and from Miramichi to transatlantic ports for the past twelve years will be of interest. The quantities are given in millions of superficial feet:—

	St. John,	Miramichi.
1879	153 Millions.	114 Millions
1880	215 "	155 "
1881	210 "	128 "
1882	201 "	117 "
1883	181 "	149 "
1884	164 "	108 "
1885	152 "	87 "
1886	138 "	72 "
1887	118 "	68 "
1888	153 "	73 "
1889	180 "	110 "
1890	132 "	88 "

It will be seen from the above statement that there have been great fluctuations in the shipment of deals both at St. John and Miramichi, particularly at the latter port.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The Amherst Gazette contains the following editorial paragraph:—

We have just noticed a paragraph which appeared in this paper in the editor's absence, and of which he desires to express disapproval. The local party leaders at Mr. Laurier's St. John meeting were referred to in an improper manner. St. John, as well as other places, has plenty of respectable grits.

Our Amherst contemporary is quite correct; there are plenty of respectable grits in St. John.

We find the following comments on the recent appointments of school trustees here, in the Ottawa Citizen, the organ of the Dominion government at the capital and a highly influential paper:—

The New Brunswick Government has reappointed Mr. Thorne, a Liberal, as chairman, and appointed Mr. John Connor, a Conservative, as a member of the Board of School Trustees for St. John city in the place of the late Mr. Carvill; thus proving that that Government does not hold to Dominion party lines, as is pretended by certain Grit newspapers. Mr. Connor is well and favorably known in this city.

It will be seen by the advertisement of the Furness Line, which appears in its proper place in this issue of the GAZETTE that four boats of this line will leave London for Halifax and St. John between this day and February 9th, and that five steamers of the line will leave this port for London, between Saturday next and March 1st. Thus instead of a boat every seventeen days from London, as was originally arranged, there will be a boat every thirteen days, giving St. John much better accomodation and our working men increased employment. We understand that this change in the sailing arrangements of the Furness Line is largely due to the promises which have been made by the Common Council to give improved wharf facilities for the steamships ot the line.

The Halifax Herald says:—

"For last year the duty collected on dutiable goods entering Canada for home consump[illegible] equal to 31.01 per cent of the value; and, in the United States, the duty collected on dutiable imports for home consumption was 44.41 per cent of their value. Thus the United States tariff is 43 per cent higher than the Canadian; and it will be higher still under the operation of the McKinley bill. The policy which Hon. Wilfred Laurier advocates involves an increase of our present tariff against Great Britain to a standard 43 per cent higher than it is at present; and a reduction [illegible] fav[illegible] 100 per cent of the present tariff in [illegible] of the United States. He boasts that he [illegible] not "a 30 per cent loyalist." Oh no! [illegible] is not. Judged by his tariff policy he is [illegible] per cent less royal to Great Britain, and 100 per cent more loyal to the United States, than the government and party [illegible] which he is opposed."

A COMBINATION LOCK.

An Awfully Dramatic Incident That Occurred in a Chicago Hotel.

The incident hereafter told was an actual happening. It has always seemed to me that it might be used effectively upon the stage, and I now offer it to readers of the Mirror, without any reservation of those mysterious and apparently indefinable and often worthless possessions, termed "Copyright" and "Proprietary rights."—Marie Wainwright in the Dramatic Mirror.

In Chicago some years ago an actor and actress—husband and wife—who had grown tired of hotel-living, and who were booked for a stay of several weeks in that city, resolved to take a suite of furnished rooms and get their meals when and where their inclinations might direct. They arrived in Chicago on a Sunday, and, after some tiresome searching, found on Dearborn street exactly what they sought, or at least as near it as is often given to lodging-seekers to obtain.

The woes of letters of board and lodging have frequently been told in papers comic and otherwise, but the woes of the seeker of the same would furnish almost as fruitful a theme. The suite referred to consisted of a parlor, bedroom and bathroom. Evidently the building had been intended originally for office uses, as in the bedroom was a large safe or vault of the most massive construction. Instead of being used to hold securities of priceless value, it was devoted to the humbler duty of receiving clothing. The heavy steel door, some five inches thick, was supplied with a combination lock.

This was a novelty to the wife, who, as soon as she had bestowed some of her wraps in the safe, began a superficial study of the mechanism. She could not of course, make out much about it and her lord and master offered, in his superior wisdom, to explain it.

"All you have to do," he said, " is to think of a word, shut the door, then spell the word dial, turn the handle, and then no one can open it who dosen't know the combination. Now step in for a moment; I will lock you in on the word " open" and let you out again in an instant."

The wife, who had not been married long enough to discover that her husband was not as clever as he thought, gayly stepped into the vault.

"It will be awfully dark and stuffy here with the door closed," she exclaimed.

"Don't be afraid, dear, I'll let you out again before you have time to think."

He turned the handle, worked the combination to "open," worked it back again, pulled at the door, but there was no sign of its yielding. Frantically he again ran the indicator over the letters making the word, but still the door would not budge. He shouted encouragingly to his wife, but it was evident that she could not hear him, for there came no reply, though he thought there was a faint sound of rapping.

"Was she already dead for the want of air?" was the first awful thought, but he remembered that the vault was at least six feet square, and even if perfectly air-tight must contain enough air to support life for some time. But for how long? It was Sunday. It might be hours before he could find a locksmith, and even then it might take some hours to open that dreadful door. His darling might be dead! He would be her slayer! Perhaps the law would call it murder!

These thoughts flashed through his mind in less time than it takes to read them. After shouting some reassnring words he rushed up to the landlady's room on the floor above, and breathlessly and almost unintelligibly told something of ihe trouble.

"You're the second fool who's got into a mess meddling with that safe," was the old woman's comforting comment.

"Never mind that!" he cried. "Can you get her out before she dies?"

"Yes, I can. I don't have things about me I don't understand; and if I did find them, I wouldn't meddle with them."

"Never mind that, my good woman; only come and open the door.

"It's easy to see you ain't been long married," was her grumbling comment, as she waddled after him down the stairs. She gave a few turns to the handle and threw the door open. The wife was discovered in a dead faint, but evidently still alive.

A good many dollars spent in doctor's fees and a present for the landlady to some extent repaired the damages of the husband's experiment, but nothing could repair his eternally damaged reputation for omniscience. In after days his wife was even occasionally known to hint that he had tried to kill her, and that she was sorry he hadn't succeeded and been duly hanged.

A day or two after the occurrence he said to the landlady: "How was it the door wouldn't open on the combination I used?"

"Because," she answered, "you must release the lock from one combination before you can set it on another. You men don't know everything, though you generally think you do."

PHRENOLOGY OF UMBRELLAS.

Wet Day Observations Reduced to a Science.

The precise umbrella has an erect rigidness of poise that turns neither to the right nor to the left.

The cautious umbrella has a covert, shoulder-shading snugness that keeps close to the sheltered side of the way.

The calculating umbrella has a weigh-and-measure preoccupation, dipping down slowly to the right or left, like the reckoning squint of an eye.

The irascible umbrella jerks through the moving mass of its kind with a rampant air of general unsteadiness that people pause to ruffle their brows at.

The good-natured umbrella has an ambling slowness of movement, a rest-on-oars look, that seems to contemplate its fellows as subjects for laughter.

The bound-to-get-there umbrella has a steady, determined movement that crushes and collides and knocks off hats on an "all's fair in war" principle.

The going-to-the-party umbrella bobs and skips in air with a certain buoyant elevation that seems borne on the wings of glee.

The take-it-easy umbrella hangs off with an oh-fuss, what's-the-hurry loll.

The shy umbrella has a forward dip, like a hat pulled over the eyes.

The absent-minded umbrella protrudes comfortably from under the arm, while its owner's head acts as a substitute.

The sweet-sixteen umbrella has a snug, "chummy" equipoise, that suggests a web and woof of "Isn't he just lovely!" with acid drop intermissions.

The forlorn-woman umbrella has a vigorless, broken poise, first one side, then another, like a shifted burden.

The chivaric umbrella has a come-and-be-sheltered hospitality of poise, held upward, outward, with a strong right-hand grip, neither in ostentation nor selfishness, but with a glorious ring round brace of protection.

The heedless umbrella is a kleptomaniac. It gets into trouble with fringes and laces, obliviously carries off somebody's veil, and never even halts for the injured spirit who gazes after it with a scathing "Well, I never!"

Purify Your Blood

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

PHYSICIANS

Who have used the various Emulsions of COD LIVER OIL with which the market is flooded, and after prescribing ESTEY'S COD LIVER OIL CREAM, unhesitatingly pronounce it the finest preparation of the kind they ever used. Being made with Glycerine instead of sugar or other Saccharine matter in any form, renders it far less liable to fermentative changes in the stomach, and prevents and overcomes the flatulency and eructation so often occasioned by the plain Cod Liver Oil.

FROM DR. J. F. BRINE, RICHIBUCTO, N. B.

I have prescribed your Cod Liver Oil Cream extensively during the past three years and am prepared to state that no other preparation of the kind has met with equal acceptance at the hands of my patients. It is easily taken and pleasing to the stomach. Children like it, and it does not decompose in warm weather, a most important desideratum."

Price, 50 cts. Six Bottles, $2.50. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Prepared only by E. M. ESTEY, Manufacturing Pharmacist, Moncton, N. B.

NO WEAR AND TARE.

It will be of advantage to know that clotyes are not worn out by sending to a laundry; there is no rubbing to wear out, no scalding to rot out; but it is done by a process that takes all the dirt out without injury to the clothes. UNGAR does the rough dry business, that is, he washes your heavy pieces rough dry for 25cts per doz.; returns them to your own door when done.
