

Message from the Dean

On behalf of the faculty I want to wish each one of you success as you proceed with your chosen course of study. If your time here has developed a passion for knowledge, a devotion to intellectual honesty, and an awareness of the need for critical evaluation, we will feel that the year has been a success. In an age when everyone is subjected to a constant barrage of propaganda of all sorts, there is a greater need for these qualities of mind than ever before if we are to discharge our duties as responsible citizens.

I also wish you joy, happiness, and the satisfaction of achievement. These are the things that add a zest to life and make a serious and sombre world enjoyable.

We hope that you will have pleasant memories of your time on this campus and will remember this as the memorable year when the first academic steps were taken in the development of the new university.

W. A. Riddell
Acting-Principal and
Dean of Arts and Science
