EVIDENCES of deep and serious thought throughout the volume."-Belfast News tter, Jan. 24, 1871.

"Succeeds well in seizing on the salient points of the words of the Royal Preacher, and in bringing them home to present duty."—Glasgow Daily Review, Feb. 6, 1871.

"Characterized by directness of aim, sound sense, and right appreciation of the sacred writer's meaning."—The Preachers' Lantern. (London), Feb. 1871.

"The production of a highly cultivated mind.
We have read several works on Eccleiastes, and well remember the pleasure with which years ago we perused the 'Royal Preacher' but for fine criticism, comprehensiveness of thought, striking illustration and unostentatious, yet eloquent and foreible style, The Wisdow of the King, we think, surpasses them all."—St. Croix Courier, March 6, 1871.

"The volume is not an unworthy companion of Dr. Buchanan on the same book."—The Homilist (London), April 1971.

milist (London), April 1871.

"A series of charming Essays. Each ohapter branches out into innumerable topics of a secondary and collateral nature, giving to the work a boundless diversity enriched with stores of ethical as well as of spiritual wisdom, evincing at once acute observation of social life and of human character, and containing the noblest lessons for practical guidance. Our author's style is remarkable for its free, unconstrained flow, almost collequial at times, but invariably signalized by elegance, force, adaptation to the subject, and not seldom by originality of thought in combination with terseness and beauty of expression. There is about it a freshness, as well as a fullness of proctical teaching, rarely to be met with in ordinary Biblical commentaries."—Londonderry Standard, Feb. 15, 1871.

"This is a bright, breezy book, both interest ing and instructive. We can most conscientiously commend this book generally, as one of the most sprightly, attractive and instructive works of its kind that has fallen under our observation."—Boston Evening Traveller, May 6th, 1871.

"Every portion of the work indicates extensive scholarship and mature thought."— Belfast Northern Whig. April 8th, 1871.

"The force, raciness and robust manliness of Mr. Bennett's style and mode of treatment will arrest attentin and excite interest in quarters where preaching or writing of the average quality would fall flat and dead."—Home and Foreign Record. March, 1871.

"The writer is evidently well acquainted with the literature of his subject, and that acquaintance reveals itself almost unconsciously in every page. There is no estentation of reading or learning, but there is everywhere the gleaming forth of light which cannot be hid. The style is simple, intelligible, graceful. It shows at once that Mr. Bennet is a man of literary culture, who can express his thoughts with scholarly chasteness and good taste. We could not open a page without meeting some thought vigorously expressed. The work is eminently fresh and readable."—Pres. Witness, Halifax. 200 PRIME FACTORY CHEESE. D. BREEZE, 1 King Square. feb 6 6i "Hatifax.

"He reveals in the treatment of his themes strong common sense, a firm grasp of thought, a logical acumen and a clear insight into human character. Even when dealing with trite ideas he imparts to them a novelty and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they scarcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, pure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own—the garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetoric—fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. We have not found one slin shod sentence in the volume."—Christian Visitor, (Baptist) March 6th, 1871. New American Hats. "We were not prepared to find him writing in such a finished style and issuing such a volume as the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation." "This is a remarkably thoughtful, solid book Mr. Bennet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethies, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestation; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shews his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume.

It will, we doubt not, take its place, as it ought to do, among our household expositions of this treatise of observation and Jewish wisdom."—The Presbyterian (Philadelphia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a Jewish wisdom. The Trestyle phia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a master's hand, and are expressed with a combined force and beauty that we have rarely seen surpassed in the production of any author. The ordinary reader will find noth ng that is above his comprehension, and yet it would be difficult to find a common place thought or form of expression. A combination of these requisites we deem the highest merit a writer can possess.

"We will be much disappointed if the book do not command a wide circulation. Wherever a sound literature is felt to be a deside atum, The Wisdom of the work that the world will not be prized as a work that the world will not willingly let die."—Saint John Telegraph and Journal.

"THE WISDOM OF THE KING is well worth careful reading. Indeed you cannot read much of it at once. There is a constant play of fancy about the thoughts, and often the very words, that is admirably suited to the Scripture book, of which this is an exposition, but which demands such constant attention on the reader's part that he gets tired, for he does not know where it is to end. The style is compact, lucid, often sparkling and epigranmatic, the sentences cut sharply, but with a poetic fullness of original illustration that redeems them from all hadness."—Haltifux Monthly Record, (Church of Scotland). NOVA SCOTIA NAVY,

St. John. The Quack aspirant for the Mayoralty was one of the best got up characters in the number. One of the Indians, gorgeous in his blanket, war paint, and wampum, looked the character well conceived. The horse jockeys and the Irish peasants were out in force. The little Snow Man was a beautifully represented character. The Ku-Klux were grotesquely attired, and, we believe, scared some of the ladies. Among the ladies Gipsies moved around, quietly followed by DEMURE LOOKING NUNS, ijust escaped from some Convent; and the Little Red Riding's Hoods were surrounded by Fortune Tellers and Peasant Girls. Liberty was chatting with the Widow Bedott, and Old Mother Hubbard was also around with "Red, White and Blue." The Belle of the Ball looked and dressed magnificently, and the Girl of the Period, with her hat stuck on jauntily, was followed by a venerable Grandma. The Snow Girl looked like a moving picture of fleecy snow. Altogether, the sight was one of varied beauty and brilliancy, and the promoters of these masquerades must feel highly pleased at the result of their efforts to make successful their winter entertainments in the best lighted and handsomest rink in the standard of the promoters of these masquerades must feel highly pleased at the result of their efforts to make successful their winter entertainments in the best lighted and handsomest rink in the standard in the promoters of these masquerades must feel highly pleased at the result of their efforts to make successful their winter entertainments in the best lighted and handsomest rink in the standard promoters of the promoters of the period, with the best lighted and handsomest rink in the standard promoters of the period with the promoters, paris Crew. In the House a bill for the erection of a building in Albany for government offices was passed. The naval appropriation bill was debated in committee of the whole.
