Welcome —from the President of CYSF

CHRIS SUMMERHAYES

Fellow Students:

I am honoured, once again, to be addressing you from these pages.

To the student here for the first time, I am a fourth year Philosophy student presently in my sixth year. This is my second term as president of CYSF and while some have indicated doubt as to my continuing sanity, I feel that my previous term forms the foundation for the successful advancement of initiatives undertaken last year.

This all sounds like a lot of politicking and you may be thinking, 'He already won the election, enough campaign promises.' It may sound that way, but a strong, central student government is something I truly believe in. It is time that York students began to think of themselves and the University as one of the best. And we are!

This year, the CYSF will continue its three track policy of cooperation, involvement and information.

The CYSF will work to encourage a spirit of cooperation among the clubs, councils and the various other groups on campus. Remember, we are all working for the students.

Involvement is more than organizing and attending special functions. We at the CYSF (and I'm certain at all councils) would like to see more student involvement at the day to day, initial planning stages of functions and programs. This is where students can have the most impact as to what sort of programs the councils offer.

And finally, information. Last year we made improvements in disseminating information and this year we hope to go even further. Consider that what we call apathy may just be a lack of information and promotion. I hope the councils will make use of the advertising boards in Central Square and also their CYSF-sponsored Excalibur advertisement.

So there you have it; a little political, a little personal and a little organizational. The CYSF and myself would like to wish you the best in the coming year. Please feel free to drop by the CYSF office any time, whether you have a question or just want a cup of coffee and conversation.
