A Pointed Question

Is your life insured? If not, what valid reason have you to offer for neglecting a duty of such paramount importance as that of insuring your life?

If you would only give the matter the serious thought that it deserves, you would soon become convinced of the necessity of life insurance for the family in event of your death.

You had better avail yourself of the opportunity now presented of making certain provision for those dependent upon you, by taking out a policy in a staunch and reliable company such as

Robert Wright, son of a former sexton, who made a fortune in Australia. The work will cost between £9,000 and £10,000, towards which the testator contributes one-half.

Trinity, Torrington, and Grace Church, Saybrooke, both of them Connecticut parishes, have received legacies from the late Messrs. Hendey and Spencer of $2,500 and $3,000, respectively. These gentlemen long held the position of senior wardens in their respective parishes.

A stained-glass window has been placed in the parish church of Stoke Gabriel, in Devon, to commemorate the 422nd anniversary of the family of Churchward entering into possession of the estate of Hill in the parish. The window is the gift of Mr. Frederick Churchward, the present owner.

Mr. J. J. Willis, who has for many years laboured as a lay reader at Cold Harbour Mission-room in connection with Harpenden Parish Church, has lately been made the recipient of a pair of silver candlesticks as a token of the congregation's appreciation of his voluntary and devoted services.

In an interesting statement sent out by the Bible Society, it is announced that there are on the list versions of the Holy Scriptures in four hundred languages. The circulation amounts to a little over 6,000,000 copies per annum. The sum spent every year is £250,000; the amount received back from sales is £100,000.

The parish of All Saints', Dorchester, Mass., has been enriched by the gift of a parish house, presented by Mrs. Oliver Peabody, a loyal parishioner, in commemoration of the twenty years' pastorate of the present rector, the Rev. Charles Whittemore. The parish house is complete in all its appointments.

The arrival of a new peal of bells for the parish church of St. Keverne, Cornwall, was made an occasion for rejoicing. The villagers, carrying flowers and headed by the local band, marched in procession to meet the four waggons on which the bells were being brought to the village. When the bells were met, wreaths of wild flowers were placed upon them.

The aged Dean of St. Paul's, who has been critically ill of late, has improved since his removal from Roehampton to the deanery. Dr. Gregory is in his eighty-ninth year, and it is wonderful to think that he was appointed Canon of St. Paul's before either Lightfoot or Liddon. The former went to St. Paul's in 1871. Liddon was appointed to the canonry the year after Dr. Gregory was appointed, in 1868.

The Ven. W. L. Bevan, Archdeacon of Brecon, is about to resign the office of Archdeacon. Archdeacon Bevan has served continuously in the Diocese of St. David's for a period of sixty-two years. The news of his impending resignation has been received with sincere regret both by the clergy and the laity throughout his jurisdiction. The Archdeacon is quite the "grand old man" of the Church in Wales.

It was a happy idea of the Liverpool Cathedral Committee to assign one of the great porches of the new cathedral to be provided by the children of the diocese at a cost of £2,000. Already £330 stands to the credit of the children's fund, which is being taken up with the greatest enthusiasm by the young folk. Sunday, April 28th, has been set apart as a "children's day," and at all the children's services in the diocese

The Dowager Countess of Chester and her family have just perpetuated the late earl's memory by presenting an elegantly carved Communion table of oak, with suitable accompaniments, to Stanmer Parish Church, which stands in Stanmer Park. The gift was dedicated on a recent Sunday, together with an oak lectern given by the Hon. Thomas Pelham, in memory of his brothers, the fourth and fifth earls, by the Bishop of Crediton. The wood was grown and carved on the Stanmer Park estate.

At a wedding held at the parish church, Beckenham, recently, all those intimately associated with the ceremony, with the exception of the bride, bore the name of Church. The bridegroom was Mr. Francis William Church, and the officiating clergyman was his father, the Rev. S. C. Church, who was assisted by his son, a curate in Essex. The best man is a brother of the bridegroom, and is a vicar near Bath. The organist was Mr. Church, another brother, who is organist at the parish church at Folkestone.

The Committee of the C.M.S. have resolved to invite two or three of the Society's Missionaries connected with the China Missions, accompanied by carefully-selected Chinese workers, to proceed to Tokyo, the capital of Japan, for at least twelve months with a view to engaging in special evangelistic work amongst the Chinese students now resident in that city. There are possibly now 14,000 such students in Japan, most of whom are living in Tokyo. These come from every nook and corner of China.

The historic and interesting Church of St. Nicholas, Carrickfergus, was re-opened for Divine service on the third Sunday after Easter, having been closed for a considerable time for renovation. The church as it now stands is one of the most interesting in Ireland, for the history of the building can be traced from the time of the Normans down to the present day. On the day of the reopening an interesting and attractive sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of the diocese (Down and Connor), who took for his text Rev. 21:22.

The Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. Robinson were on February 27th last made the recipients of various parting gifts by the parishioners of St. Paul's, Dunedin, N.Z., on the eve of their departure for England. The Primate, Dr. Nelligan, was present and made a speech. He also presented the Archdeacon with a purse of 100 sovereigns. Mr. Dickenson, on behalf of the members of the choir, presented a large picture to the Archdeacon, and Mr. P. C. Lawry, superintendent of the Sunday School, a handsome pocketbook as a keepsake and as a small token of esteem from the teachers.

Preaching recently at St. Mary's Church, Southwark, the Rev. Henry Pitt, the vicar, drew attention to what he termed a remarkable book, entitled "Moses and the Prophets," written at the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury by the Rev. C. H. Waller, D.D. (formerly Principal of the London College of Divinity), to show that Professor Driver and the so-called "Higher Critics" are guilty of apostasy, and, therefore, by the law of England, incapable of holding any office or position of trust. Those in high places in the Church would be better employed if they brought the Gospel of pardon and comfort to the masses of the people living in circumstances so greatly needing strength to resist temptation, instead of sowing, as they were, the seed of doubt and infidelity, which was, as he knew by his sorrowful experience, yielding such a terrible harvest of unrest and unbelief.

Kidneys Affected By Sudden Change

The sudden lowering of the temperature causes the pores of the skin to close, and thus throws on to the kidneys much work which is ordinarily performed by the skin. This, no doubt, accounts for the great prevalence of kidney disease during the fall and winter.

There is no treatment which so quickly affords relief to overworked and deranged kidneys as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because they act on the liver, as well as the kidneys, and when in healthful action the liver does much of the work of filtering the blood, which is otherwise left for the kidneys.

Bright's Disease, dropsy, uric acid poisoning, stone in the bladder, and rheumatism are among the most painful forms of kidney disease, and these ailments can always be prevented by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They can also usually be cured by this treatment, but if you are so fortunate as to be yet free of these dreadful ailments, keep so by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep the liver, kidneys and bowels in healthful working condition. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
