

The Housekeeper

Does Nothing

As Important As Buying Groceries.

Nothing anywhere near as important except possibly to cook them.

Poor Groceries cannot be turned into good food, no matter how expert the cook may be.

A Dollar saved by buying cheap groceries will probably turn out to be TWO wasted.

A Loss of Nourishment.

A Waste of Eatables.

A Lack of Relish.

We invite all particular housewives to test the goodness of our groceries—then to act as they find them—that's all.

We take especial care to provide nothing but the best for the canning season.

Best Sugar, Solid Fruit, Sealers that will seal. Quality never sacrificed to give Quantity.

THE STAR GROCERY,

Items of Interest

The man who gets mad at what the newspaper says about him should return thanks three times a day for what the newspapers knew about him and suppressed.

The insane desire to be handsome has made more than one of our otherwise sensible girls do some downright crazy thing. The powder and rouge smeared on the freckled cheeks is too apparent a deception for the prudent young man not to see and with which he is disgusted. He hates the taste. A freckled face with common-sense is handsomer than the best powder can make a face.

Albert Peel, proprietor of a hotel at Marysville, is wondering if the world is getting better. A stranger entered his hotel a few days ago, and, slipping $22 into Peel's hand, declared he wanted to pay a bill he had owed for 20 years. The stranger declared he stayed at the hotel when Peel's father ran it and left without paying his board bill. The $22 was for the hotel bill and interest.

In order to prove that a woman can do all kinds of work as well as a man, Mrs. Charlotte M. Poole, an American Suffragette, took a turn in the stokehold of the Occoeca during a recent trip to Bermuda. She borrowed some old clothes and got busy with the coals, earning the good opinion of the chief engineer, whose scepticism waned as Mrs. Poole steadily reduced a big coal heap. She did a spell of twenty-five minutes before taking a breather, and afterwards declared that she was ready to go down again, but those who had dared her expressed themselves as satisfied.

A Coshocton couple find themselves in a curious plight. Because Mrs. Carnes is being haunted by the ghost of her former husband, she and her husband have had to leave their town house and are now camping in the open. Members of the family swear to the truth of the story. Simon Fisher, much older than his wife, died last March, and on his death-bed exacted a promise from her that she would not marry Carnes, whom he hated. In less than a month, the woman married Carnes, and, according to her story, her former husband has "dogged" her ever since. She and Carnes and her three children all declare that the last night they occupied the cottage Fisher appeared before them, attired in his grave clothes, pointed his long finger at her, and then seemed to walk right through her and vanish.

Gentle Persuasion.

A certain gushing lady took her four-year-old daughter to a photographer. The little one could not be kept still. The camera man was a nice and suave as he could be, called the child all the sweet, endearing names he could think of, while using every device of gentle persuasion to make the little wriggler keep still. Finally he turned to the despairing mother and said:—

"Madam, if you will leave your darling with me for a few minutes, I think I can succeed in taking her lovely face to perfection."

The mother withdrew for a short time. Soon the photographer summoned her back and assured her that he had secured a highly satisfactory negative. When they reached home the mother said:

"Nellie, what did that nice gentleman say to you when I left you alone with him?"

"Well, he said," lisped Nellie, "if you don't sit still, you ugly, squint-eyed monkey, I'll take the life out of you." Then I sat very still, mamma."

Simplicity Of English

Do you know how many words in the English language mean "crowd?" To a foreigner anxious to master the language, it was explained that a crowd of ships is termed a fleet, while a fleet of sheep is called a flock. Further a flock of girls is called a bevy, a bevy of wolves is called a pack and a pack of thieves is called a gang, and a gang of angels is called a host, and a host of porpoises is called a shoal, and a shoal of buffaloes is called a herd, and a herd of children is called a troop, and a troop of part-ridges is called a covey, and a covey of beauties is called a galaxy, and a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde, and a horde of rubbish is called a heap, and a drove of blackguards is called a mob, and a mob of whales is called a school, and a school of worshippers is called a congregation, and a congregation of engineers is called a corps, and a corps of robbers is called a band, and a band of bees is called a swarm, and a swarm of people is called a crowd.
