The Poor Man.
Who is earth's poor man? Is he poor who has in sweat his daily bread? Who has but on the lonely moor Where winds are cold and skies are rough, Not he, if when he tests his head Can say—"Thank God I have enough." But he is poor, Oh, poor is he! Whose hours burn out with golden grain Whose heavy vessels plough the sea; Whose home is built of quarried stone; Whose days are spent in bounding gale; Yet covets more than his own.

The Crisis of a Life.
Theodore Nelson stood in the centre of her room. She was doing nothing. It seemed to her that her situation was a crisis. Her engagements were, he needed to chat with her an hour after tea, she made it a point to be at leisure then. So two years had passed, and no daughter in the home of a father was happier than was this orphan girl. Then a certain guest came often to the house. He was a Dr. Lamington, one of the ablest practitioners of the city, a man of talent who was rapidly amassing a fortune. He had seen Theodore first at the bedside of little Lora when the child had an attack of sickness. He became interested in her and finally opened his heart and hand. Then it was that Mr. Granger had said: "It is an offer, Miss Nelson, which you would do well to give some thought to."

Passing of the Hired Man.
"I'm kinder lookin' for a hired man and kinder hopin' I don't get one," a farmer was reported as saying in a thumorous article that went the rounds in the Press some years ago. "Hired men ain't what they used to be," he continued, sadly. "The kind of a hired man I used to get for the harvest months had the strength of an ox and the vim of a locomotive, but the trash I get now-a-days knocks off work at a'clock, puts on clean paper collars, and go to garden parties." If the farmer who uttered this jernialism is still living he has probably given up his quest in despair.

Hot Weather Months Kill Little Children.
If you want to keep your children rosy, healthy and full of life during the hot weather months give them an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine prevents deadly summer complaints by cleansing the stomach and bowels; or it cures the trouble promptly if it comes on unexpectedly.

Did You Ever Think?
That a kind word put out at interest brings back an enormous percentage of love and appreciation. That, though a loving thought may not seem to be appreciated, it has yet made you better and braver because of it.

Little Muriel flew into the house, flushed and breathless. "Oh, Mother," she cried, "don't scold me for being late to tea, for I've had such a disappointment! A horse fell down and they said that they were going to send for a horse doctor, so of course I had to stay. And after I'd waited and waited, he came and oh, Mother, what do you think? It wasn't a horse doctor at all. It was only a man!"

A little girl was greatly interested in watching the men in her grandfather's orchard putting bands of tar around the fruit trees, and asked a great many questions. Some weeks later, when in the city with her mother, she noticed a gentleman with a mourning band around his left sleeve.

"Mamma," she asked, "what's that coming from crawling up his other arm?"

Mr. Gillis—Surely, Miss Gray, you haven't forgotten me already? Why, I proposed to you at the seashore last summer!

Miss Gray (much puzzled)—Can't you recall some other incident?

Children are faithful friends. The world is false and treacherous. People are often friends because they seek a benefit. Friendship is made a tool for gain. The friendship of a child is unselfish. It gives you its heart, its whole little being. It will not deceive you. Older hearts may forget or forsake you; its heart remains true to you. Trial has taught you the vanity and emptiness of all human aims and wishes. Only in the hearts of children do you find unalloyed comfort. Their hearts will cleave to you though the heavens fall.—Benjamin Haussman, D. D.

Is it worth while to cure yourself?
This letter tells how one woman got rid of liver complaint, biliousness, and terrible sick headaches.
Sickness is to some extent a habit. This is especially true of biliousness and constipation. So long as you neglect treatment, or merely use medicine, to move the bowels, the old trouble will return again and again.
Mrs. Jas. Montell, Barrie, Simcoe Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches and have found them the most effective treatment I ever used. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pain and ache and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver and on this account thoroughly cure biliousness and constipation. Their exceptional merit has made them known in nearly every home and you can depend on their absolute reliability. One pill a day, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.
Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Because of the deference he paid to the wishes of his congregation during the course of his four years ministry, by making his sermons short and to the point, an Indiana pastor had been presented by some members of his flock with a farm of sixty acres valued at $125 an acre. Most pastors will agree that this is not quite the usual manner of expressing appreciation of their pastor's services in vogue among congregations as a rule, and in this particular instance at any rate virtue was not altogether its own reward.—Gleaner.

Many victims of sick headaches have been cured with the following simple prescription: When the first symptoms of a headache appear, take a teaspoonful lemon juice, fifteen minutes before each meal, and the same dose at bed time; follow this up until all symptoms are past, taking no other medicine, and you will be free from your periodical nuisance.

Differences as a Sign of Life.
Differences of honest conviction between others and ourselves ought not to trouble us. Such differences ought only to challenge the best that is in both sides, while each respects the other's right to differ. They are evidences of life, and may be welcomed as such. There are some persons who differ with no one because lacking the energy and the interest that are called for by the effort of having an opinion of their own. They are not burdened with life purpose or convictions. If, indeed, we find none ever differing with us we may fairly ask ourselves whether there is healthy purpose in our lives to call out any expression of difference from others.
