By and By. What will it matter, by and by, Whether my path below was bright Whether it wound through dark

Under a gray or golden sky, When I look back on it by and by? What will it matter, by and by,
Whether unbelped I toiled alone,
Dashing my foot against a stone,
Missing the charge of the angel high
Bidding me think of the by and by?

What will it matter, by and by, Whether with laughing joy I went Down through the years with a g intent; Never believing, nay, not I, Tears would be sweeter by and by!

What will it matter, by and by,
Whether with cheek to cheek I've lai
Close by the pallid angel, Pain;
Soothing myself through sob and sigh,
"All will be elsewise by and by." What will it matter? Naught, if I Only am sure the way I've trod, Gloomy or gladdened, leads to God, Questioning not of the how, the why If I but reach Him by and by.

What will I care for the unshared sigh, If, in my fear of slip or fall, Closely, I've clung to Christ through all; Mindless how rough the path may lie, Since He will smooth it by and by?

All honor and praise to the singing that cheers up the wildwood in spring—the old recollections oft bringing childhood and that sort of thing; but dearer to me than the twitter of robin or martin or wren is that motherly cluck when a litter of chickens surround the old hen.

And her mid-winter cackle, how cheery, above the new nest she has made, it notifies hearts all aweary another fresh egg has been laid; and when the old bird waxes heavy, and azed and lazy and fat, well cooked with light dumplings and gravy—there's great consolation in that.
