INTERESTING TALK ON TOWN MANAGEMENT

Mr. R. Fraser Armstrong, Town Manager of Woodstock made the following comments regarding the Town Manager System, at a recent luncheon given by the Rotary Club of St. John.

Mr. Armstrong said, "many people seemed to think that the Town Manager plan was suitable for small towns only. It would do just as well in large towns. Several large cities in the United States had adopted it with success. The idea was simply carrying out the system in use in large mercantile corporations. The electors were the shareholders, who appointed the City or Town Council as directors, and the latter appointed the general or business manager. The Town Council meets twice or three times a month to discuss the various town problems and decides on the policy to be adopted. The Manager simply carries out their directions. By this means a lot of time and trouble were saved. The manager, of course, must be a practical man, versed in the several matters which a town has to take in hand, and naturally he plays a considerable part in advising the Council as to the best steps to take. The ordinary aldermanic system, has its drawbacks the chief of which is the lack of continuity of operation. For instance after an election, the chairmanship of the various committees of the council are allotted, to men who have no special knowledge of the particular work they are to oversee. By the time they begin to know something about it, another election comes around and they may lose their seats. Then another new man comes in, who will probably know no more of the matter than his predecessor did to begin with, and he may have altogether different ideas. The result is that in all probability a good deal of what the previous man accomplished, will be undone. Another is that with a town manager the members of the council do not have to devote much of their time to town affairs, as the chairman of a committee does. To a busy citizen this is a great advantage. All the committee have to do is to attend the meetings for a couple of hours or so each month, give their instructions and the manager does the work. A Town Manager must, of course be a trained man, or he cannot be a success. This is one of the faults of the committee system. The Council may consist of capable business men in their lines; but because a man is a good tailor, grocer or dry goods merchant, or what not, doesn't qualify him to take charge of streets, sewers, lighting or any other branch of civic administration.
