NO 4 A BY-LAW 1866

To raise by way of Loan the sum of Twenty Thougand Dollars for the purposes therein mentioned.

getting 5, 10 or 20 bushels of wheat to the acre, they were able to realize out of a crop of flax at the least expense from $28 to $30.

The crop being taken immediately after being harvested out of the stock to mill, and at that early period of the season, before wheat or any other crop was ripe, enabled the farmer to realize sufficient means out of his crop of flax to carry on his other harvest operations without being compelled to borrow money to do so, as he has been so often compelled to do of late years.

Fearing that I would be trespassing too long on your valuable time by enlarging on this part of the subject, suffice it to say that objections formerly held by our farmers to grow this crop are rapidly disappearing. They are now willing to give it a fair trial, and it may therefore safely be ranked as one of the best staples we have.

The greatest advantage resulting from this crop is the samulacturing of it and converting the raw material into marketable goods. In this respect it has the ascendency over any other product of the farm, for while it is in reality profitable to the farmers in its main pulation and preparation for market, it affords an immense amount of employment to the juvenile branches of society, who are so often idling about our streets and highways.

Every $20,000 worth of flax grown in the country requires $40,000 of an outlay before it can be converted into marketable goods; and now, in the face of the apolition of the reciprocity treaty, no crop or manufacture commends itself more strongly to the notice of our Canadian Agriculturalists and men of enterprise than this, for while so many contributes the profitable to the farmers in its main pulation and preparation for market, it affords an immense amount of employment to the juvenile branches of society, who are so often idling about our streets and highways.

"Stop Her."

The Zanesville Signal gives the following humorous discription of a "free ride" on the cars. A Zanesville man "flat broke," and wanting to go to Columbus, concluded to "thrass it," and accordingly took a seat in a car on the Central Ohio Railroad. The Signal thus describes the trip:—

The train had mearly reached Claypool's before the Uonductor, whom we will call Jones, had reached our dead-head friend in lack round of collecting tickets and farea.

Your ticket, if you please," said the Contactor. "Haven't any," said the dead-head was 66 EN good improved Farms for sale in the Counties of Huron, Perth, and Middlesex.
