Motorist Received

a Scare.

Friday evening, a motor car owned by a lady living on Circular Road, went over a steep embankment and out into a hole in Rennie's River, the driver and another lady receiving a bad scare. They were rescued by another motorist procuring a plank and putting it out to the water surrounded car to form a bridge. It appears that the car, a Buick, recently purchased from a well known M.D. of the West End, was coming in the Mill Road and had turned to go out Dwyer's way, when, going up grade, the driver in changing gears, in some way reversed the engine with the result that the car shot backwards over the bank and into the river where it struck a boulder and turned at right angles to the direction from which it came. Saturday afternoon a number of men with a team of horses pulled the car ashore, none the worse for its immersion. Dozens of motorists visited the scene and some interesting snapshots were taken by Mr. B. Hayward.

New Uniform for C.C.C.

DOES A COLLEGE

"I have had a very rich experience. I am quite certain that whatever I do in the future, even if it is only a whitewash fence, will bear the impress of that wider experience."—Thomas Ball Aldrich.

A letter friend who is completing her high school course this year wants me to advise her whether to go to college or not, next year. She tells me that some of her older girl friends who have taken business courses are making more money than the girls who went to college. She had always meant to go to college, but this has shaken her. She will have to support herself when she gets through and, of course, she wants to make the wisest investment of her time and money.

Only One Answer to Such a Question.

Of course, there can be but one answer to such a question.

At least, it is my opinion that any woman who expects to get an increased earning power out of a college education that will repay the money and time invested and then divide on top of that, has too much faith in a college education. It is not likely to be out of by marriage after a few years, and in the long run (many people think) the average college man does overcome the time handicap and pull ahead of the non-college man.

But if one puts aside the money question of view one comes to quite another conclusion.

What College Does for One.

Perhaps the quotation at the head of this talk has seemed somewhat aside from the subject. To me it sums up what college means. Mr. Aldrich was not speaking of time at college, but he might well have been for that is just what college does for one.
