DEATH BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

A message from Mr. J. M. Jackson, St. John's, to the Justice Dept., received yesterday evening, reports the death of James Austin, who was killed by the explosion of dynamite which was being used on an ore pile. The message reads as follows:—

"James Austin killed last night while working loading ore steamers. He was using dynamite on the ore pile and the charge exploded, killing him."

Wesley Young Men's Literary Class

The following resolution was adopted by the Wesley Young Men's Literary Class last night: Resolved: That pleasure has become a menace to the present age. The speakers for the affirmative were H. E. Sparks and R. Clarke, and for the negative W. Grouchy and R. Bursey. The affirmative claimed that modern pleasure had detracted much from the pleasure of home life. Many financial and other pleasures have been ruined through participation in pleasures of a dissolute nature. In fact, pleasure is a nation or individual, and a seeker after pleasure, failure is the ultimate result. The negative claimed that when pleasure is abused it is no longer pleasure. It is a pleasure of no mean value. They are pleasures of natural pleasures, and pleasures cannot be immoral. Pleasure is itself natural and good, but its abuse of it has caused much trouble. On the vote being taken it was found that the negative had won by a fair majority. Several visitors were present, and after the debate was over, the Class was favored with a short address from an old member of the person of Mr. Raymond Gough, a graduate of Dalhousie, who has received much credit on himself and which he has achieved. After the regular business had been gone through, the meeting adjourned until next Tuesday evening at 7.45 p.m.
