THE GUARDIAN

BY FREDERICK ORIN BARTLETT

So a month passed, and life went better with Nat. Page than it had in the preceding month. In every respect, save one. Though the work in camp was smooth, though 'Gene' continued to live up to his good name, though Julie so far as he could learn was happy, the ache would not get out of his own heart. Night and day and night, he suffered like one tormented with a grievous illness. In spite of all he could do, the girl remained at the supreme necessity of his life. Work as hard as he might, he was left with thoughts of her. Whenever he did sleep, he dreamed of her and awoke with her name on his lips. He couldn't make his life count for anything without her. He couldn't disassociate her from either the past or the future. The past dated from the first time he saw her, and the future was a chaos of hopeless dreams.

His sole outlet was through 'Gene', and he paid heavily whenever he used this, for the latter now realized fully that the one vulnerable spot in his brother was his regard for Julie. Nat liked to send back to her every Saturday some little present. Once it was a few choice bits of spruce gum, another time a pretty strip of bark, and then again a brace of partridges which he spent a half day in getting. The first time he handed these gifts to 'Gene' he latter smiled contemptuously.

"What are these for?" he inquired.
"They are a present from you to your wife," answered Nat.
"What do you think she wants of those fool things?" demanded 'Gene'.
"She will like them because you bring them," answered Nat.
"Huh!" grunted 'Gene'. "I reckon she gets enough to eat at home."
"Maybe," answered Nat. "But you will carry something to her every Saturday."
Though at first 'Gene' thought this merely a bit of foolishness, he found that the little presents really did make a difference. Julie seemed actually pleased with the attention.

"It must have been a lot of trouble for you to get these," she said when he brought home the partridges.
"No great trouble," he answered lightly.
"Well, it's good of you, 'Gene', I'll cook them for your supper."
She did, and though she ate but little of them, 'Gene' finished them off with a decided relish.

In spite of this, 'Gene' rebelled when Nat came back to camp on Saturday with a deer, and cutting off a hamsch of venison weighing some twenty pounds, handed it to him to carry. This happened, too, on one of the worst nights of the winter. A snow-laden gale had swept over the mountain for two days, and when that noon the larger travelers suggested themselves back to the shacks a chorus of snow wreaths skirted out of the pines at their heels. A man could not make his face to them, and breathing came hard. The trees were whipped until they sounded like the after-moan of a tear-dry woman. There was no landscape, no horizon. The world was reduced again to chaos; to a swirling infinity of icy particles. Man did not belong in it, for it tested the strength of even the dearest roots.

It had been a bad day for Nat, too. The very fury of the storm seemed to drive Julie deeper into his heart. When he had gone hunting for her, there it was because the call for her was so great that he could not even work. The best he could do was to fight that storm to get some little thing for her. The fever blew the gale, the more real it made his.

Could Not Heal The Wound
For many years Dr. Chase's Ointment has had an enviable reputation as a means of healing ulcers, sores and wounds that refuse to yield to other treatments.

In this letter you will read of a case in which doctors failed to heal a wound made in operating. All sorts of treatments were tried in vain, until Dr. Chase's Ointment came to the rescue and made a cure.
Mr. G. E. Leslie, brakeman on the C. P. R., and living at Grand Falls, N. B., writes: "I have given Dr. Chase's Ointment a most severe test, and do not believe there is any treatment so successful as a healer of the skin. I was operated on for a tumor, with the result that a wound was left which refused to heal. In spite of many preparations tried, Dr. Chase's Ointment healed the wound rapidly. So thankful am I for the cure that I want others to know about this wonderful ointment."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY HELPS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Mrs. B.: "Stirring" unmanageable hair is caused by grease and dirt, which, if neglected, will produce dandruff, the worst of all hair dangers. Keep the scalp perfectly clean with an occasional shampoo with castor oil. You will be delighted with the result. Get a package of castor oil from any drugist and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This massaged into the scalp creates a soft, bland layer which gently and thoroughly cleanses the hair. After rinsing and drying, the scalp is left as soft as velvet, and the hair is fluffy, beautiful and easy to arrange.

B. A.: It is an easy matter to reduce your weight if you use the system I am using. This is harmless and quickly dissolves fat-tissues without leaving the skin flabby or wrinkled. Prepare it at home by getting four ounces paraffin from the drugist and dissolve in 1½ pints hot water, strain and take a tablespoonful before each meal. Use regularly until the proper weight is reached. When the paraffin treatment is employed the symptoms of lines of the body soon return and no ill effect follows its use.

Ada: You can strengthen your weak eyes and rid them of that overworked look by putting in each eye daily two or three drops of a fine, strengthening tonic made by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. This eye-tonic is very soothing and by using it regularly you will make your eyes strong, clear and brilliant.

Marion: You can cure the impurities in the blood which manifest themselves in pimples and "muddy" complexion with this blood purifier, which you should make at home. Get an ounce of karsene and

WANTS $50,000 FROM COL. HUGHES

Late Editor of Star Declares Alleged Libel Has Been Repeated.

PLACES ARE SPECIFIED

Asks For Five Times the Amount Named When Charge Was First Laid.

Montreal, Feb. 5.—Fifty thousand dollars is the least that Mr. B. A. Macnab, of the Star, will be content with now from Colonel the Hon. Sam Hughes. Previously Mr. Macnab wanted $10,000, and a retraction, or, failing the latter, he wanted to have the minister serve a term in the common jail. Now he claims that the alleged libel has been repeated, and wants five times the amount previously asked for.

An amendment was filed today by Mr. Charles Gaudet, K.C., who is Mr. Macnab's attorney, in which prominent Canadians are mentioned. Mr. Gaudet states "that inasmuch as the defendant has denounced the plaintiff since the institution of his action in terms of malicious appropriation, which would have the effect of placing upon plaintiff odium and disgrace, the damages claimed by plaintiff be increased from $10,000 to $50,000."

The plaintiff's attorney specifies certain places and persons in which and to whom the defendant is alleged to have denounced Mr. Macnab. At the Rideau Club, Ottawa, the names of Hon. Robert Rogers, Messrs. D. Lorne McLaughlin, L. T. Marchand, K.C., and Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., are cited. At the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, Colonel E. W. B. Morrison. At the houses of Parliament certain members of that body. At the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, various local militia officers, including Colonel E. W. Wilson and Colonel Labelle, of the harbor commission, as well as various newspaper correspondents connected with the press gallery at Ottawa.

TRAIL LEADS TO "MEN HIGHER UP"

Disclosures of Police Graft in New York Promise Sensational Developments.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 5.—As a result of further disclosures in the police graft situation, made to the district attorney today by Eugene Fox, the policeman who has confessed to levying tribute as collector for superior officers, it was decided, with the consent of Supreme Court Justice Goff, to hasten the investigation of the extraordinary grand jury, by having that body convene tomorrow instead of Monday next. District Attorney Whitman conferred with Justice Goff, after Fox and a relative had been on the stand all afternoon, and it was agreed to subpoena a police inspector mentioned by Fox, to appear as a witness before the grand jury tomorrow. A direct trail to the much-talked-of "men higher up" in the police department is thought now to have been struck by the prosecutor.

Bribed to Keep Away.
The inspector under subpoena is declared to be the one mentioned by Geo. Sipp, a resort-keeper, who declared a fund of $1,000 was raised to keep him out of the state so that he could not testify before the grand jury regarding Fox's graft telling. Sipp gave sworn testimony, which was speedily followed by Fox's indictment, the patrolman later pleading guilty and agreeing to disclose facts in graft collecting of the police, extending back over five years. Supplementing these facts with further details today, Fox mentioned 21 resorts, which contributed "protection money" in amounts aggregating $1,500 monthly. These collections were all confined to one small section of the city.

HENRY MAHON WAS CHOSEN GRAND MASTER
County Lodge of Middlesex Elected Officers.
The annual meeting of the Loyal Orange County Lodge of East Middlesex was held in the Moose Hall yesterday afternoon and the officers for the year were elected. Bro. Fox, of Guelph, was present, and presented an invitation from the Guelph lodge that the annual celebration on July 12 be held in that city.

The report from the 21 lodges in East Middlesex were received, and every one showed an increase in membership. Bros. E. T. Essery and Fox were the chief speakers at the meeting.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Grand master, Henry Mahon, Evelyn (re-elected); deputy master, Dr. Wm. J. Wilson (re-elected); recording secretary, James Fleming; financial secretary, E. J. Luck (re-elected); treasurer, Joseph Murray; lecturer, F. H. Wright; deputy lecturer, Joseph Loney and E. Langford.

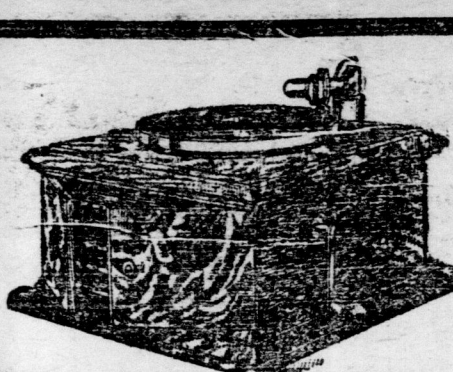

MINISTER SHOT YOUTHFUL TORMENTOR

Boy Admits to Halloween Prank and Pastor Is Acquitted.

Saskatoon, Feb. 5.—Rev. Jas. Laing, a Presbyterian minister of Wadena, was charged with unlawfully wounding Seward Hulse by shooting, was found not guilty. The jury were out three hours. Laing fired off a gun to scare off a gang of youthful tormentors who surrounded his house. Halloween had been celebrated, and Laing, who admitted firing several shots, said he fired in the air. He also claimed several shots were fired at his house during the escapade and that the house was also bombarded with stones. Hulse was struck by a stone but not seriously wounded. He admitted being one of the party playing pranks around the minister's house.

SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

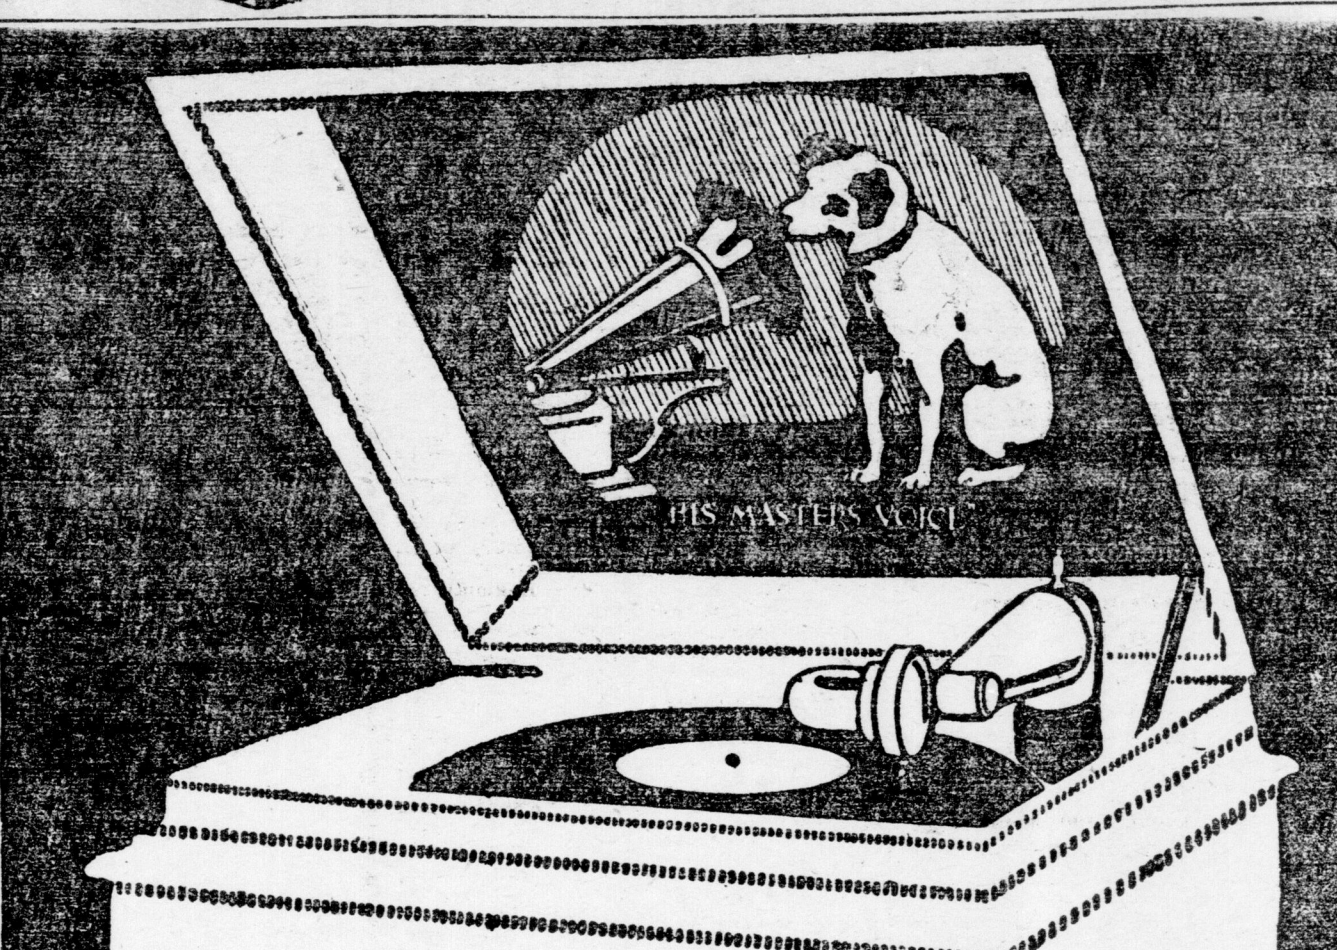

Boston, Feb. 5.—A speedy settlement of the strike of about 5,000 garment workers was predicted today by labor leaders. Sixteen firms, employing nearly one thousand operatives, have granted the strikers' demands for a wage advance, recognition of the union, and better working conditions.
