To the Editors:—I shall be obliged if you will give an oppositionist space for a few comments upon the stand taken by Mr. Cotton during the late discussion in the House upon the subject of the proposed Parliament buildings. Reading his speech of the 21st inst., I regretted the remembrance that among other votes which helped to elect him was mine, for I can now see that the spirit which animated him in uttering the sentiments be did was pitiful and unworthy. I can see a man who deplores the probability of so much money being expended because it is not to be spent where he wants it to be spent, and who, because of this, would readily belittle the berrowing power of the Province. I can see a man who, in his secret heart, shouts for joy that the bill came up, as it

VANCOUVER, March 29—(Special)—The English were again beaten in the International tug-of-war context last night, this time by the Italians, in 25 minutes. The English team are woefully disappointing their friends. A desperate struggle took place between the French and Canadian teams, the latter finally winning in 57. The immense audience pitied both teams before the close, so exhausted yet so desperate did they look.

The results of the tournament so far are: The Scotch pulled the French in eight minutes; the English won from the Germans on a foul and declined to take further part; the Canadians pulled the Italians in five minutes; the Canadians pulled the French in 571 minutes; and the Scotch pulled the Italians in fifty seconds. The French won from the Germans by default; and the Canadians
