OUR BATTALION
Campbellton has once more placed herself on the map of New Brunswick.
The result of the great recruiting rally held here last Saturday night has shown the province that we take second place to no town in the Maritime provinces. A glance at the number of recruits who have signed on as a direct result of this campaign, should make every citizen proud that they are "citizens of no mean city." It is the bound duty of every one in the town to keep recruiting stations by giving every assistance in their power to the officers, so that the object we have in view may be brought to a successful issue. We want to raise the battalion in thirty days and present it all ready and at full strength to Col.
Morseau as a New Year present. Let us keep this matter before us and let the slogan be "A battalion in thirty days."

LOTTERIES
In view of the fact that there are some who do not favor lotteries as a means of raising money for patriotic purposes, we reproduce the following timely article from the St. John Globe.
Laws against gambling are designed to protect the public against get-rich-quick schemes of fakers. A lottery for patriotic purposes is no more an evil thing than a Sunday evening concert. The lottery for patriotic purposes is a Sunday evening treat to soldiers in khaki.
Parliament at its first opportunity should remove any legal ban now imposed on any such entertainment. The only harm in them, or that can be attributed to them, is that they transgress more manmade law. The absolute absence of evil in their intent and purpose and the opportunity they afford to help in doing good, justify their removal from any crime calendar.

STOP IT!
It surely must be admitted by every one who has the interests of his country at heart that soldiers who enlist in Canada, enlist for the purpose of going overseas to fight the enemies of the Empire. We have frequently taken occasion to point out that the training and equipping of soldiers is a matter which should be left to the proper military authorities. Rational opinion everywhere commends the soundness of this position.

Yet under the heading, "Unfairness to Amherst," the Amherst Daily News prints the following:
"Canada possesses many towns that could have quartered troops last winter. Amherst through the influence of Mr. Rhodes, was one of the few towns that enjoyed the privilege. Five weeks ago Mr.
Rhodes informed us that he was making efforts to secure the location of a regiment here this winter. We have not seen him since.
We do not know what success has crowned his work."
In another article in the same issue of the News the following paragraph is found:
"The point is whether the British representative and his Liberal applauders were right, or whether Mr. Rhodes, in particular, should be berated because he has not obtained orders did not come to Amherst."

One would think, when the Empire is engaged in a life and death struggle, that nasty, political squabbling over "the spoils" should cease. If Amherst is a fit and proper place for training troops, then no particular credit is due to Mr. Rhodes for procuring from the Ottawa authorities the stationing of a regiment in that ambitious town. If it is not, then instead of being praised, Mr. Rhodes should be condemned for exercising political "pull" to have soldiers quartered in a place that was not a fit and proper place for the training of troops.
We do not propose to express an opinion as to whether or not Amherst is a proper place to train soldiers.
That is a matter for the technical advisers of the Militia Department to decide. We do, however, desire to protest once more against the efforts of politicians, be they Liberal or Conservative, who desire to make party capital out of the quartering of the troops.
It is of no interest to a single individual in the British Empire, outside of the town of Amherst, whether troops are quartered there or not. It does not add to the efficiency of a battalion that it is supplied with food and equipment by the partisans of one political party or not supplied by the partisans of another. It does not help the Empire to win this war, if regiments are pulled and hauled from and to various sections of the Dominion, in order that any partisans may be enabled to make a profit out of the furnishing of the supplies.
Mr. Rhodes is not entitled to any votes, nor should he lose any votes to which he is entitled, on his merits, as a representative of Cumberland County, because he had sufficient "pull" to get a regiment quartered at Amherst, or because his "pull" was not sufficient to accomplish that purpose. It is time for even partizan politicians to be decent. It is not the time for squabbling at the expense of the efficiency and proper training of our soldiers.

What we have said with respect to the quartering of troops applies with equal force to the provision of munitions of war. It is distinctly indecent for the Amherst News—Mr. Rhodes' personal and political organ—to be clamoring for public confidence in its proprietor because he succeeded in getting something for Amherst to which it may, or may not, be entitled, at the expense of the country. It is revolting, at this crisis in the Empire's history, that political controversy of this sort should be carried on.
Our advice to Mr. Rhodes and the Amherst News is to stop it, and stop it once.—Halifax Chronicle.

HOW TO DO IT.
THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cocksfoot street, London, Nov. 30.— A group belonging to the Canadian Brigade returned from London to the front today, after a leave obtained under peculiar circumstances. Their commanding officer declared that the men who entered the German trench in front of the Canadian position and captured twelve Germans should have nine days' leave. The leave was entered that night sure enough, and the Germans in their hands, calling for mercy as camarades.
They were triumphantly taken prisoners, but in the excitement of the moment the victorious Canadians did not count the prisoners until they were returned to the Canadian quarters, when, to their dismay, they found eleven only—just one short of the number necessary to secure the coveted leave.
There was nothing for it but to return to the trench which the Germans had re-occupied.
"How many of you are there here?" said a Canadian officer, suddenly coming to the trench, revolver in hand.
The Germans answered, "Nine."
"Oh, well," said the Canadian, "we only want one; throw him out." He was thrown out, and he and his comrades returned to the Canadian lines with their extra man, so earning the nine days' leave, which ended today.

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT
Extracts from a letter from Signaler R. C. Deane, who enlisted in Campbellton just a year ago.
Dear Mother:
I received your two letters tonight, one dated Nov. 15th and the other 17th, so that is the way my mail comes, sort of in bunches. Mr. Bell brought them up from rest billet for me, as our Batt. have come back into the trenches this evening and it would be impossible for me to describe the terrible condition the trenches are in to you. This of course, is due as you would have guessed to the unceasing rain of the past week or ten days.
They have caved in in places and in other parts are filled with water waist deep, and I am not speaking from guess work, as I have just returned about two hours ago from one of the stations in the front trench, where I took a phone. Some of these letters we see in the front page of the papers about the hardships of the trenches and the dangerous work of the writers are very amusing to us here, as the greater part of them are written either by some one in the artillery or else on ammunition supply company man, or an army servant corp enthusiast, who never gets near the trenches closer than two miles off, and only see them occasionally through powerful field glasses. The men who are suffering the greatest hardships and who are doing the hardest work are the infantry men in the trenches, and as far as I can see the men who have the greatest nerve and who seem to have no fear whatever, are the aviators or airmen, and if you have noticed it, you will remember that you have not seen any hot air or imaginary letters in the papers from these fearless men.
For example, every fine day we see them flying over here, thousands of feet in the air, on their way to the German front, right over the noses of the enemy's guns, where they fly around by the hour observing, with the shells bursting all around them and if they are hit it means almost certain death. That's what I call nerve and these are the men who are not writing to the papers, trying to sing their own praises. I do not think I will ever tire of singing their praises, although I will say that they are not the only heroes and they do not have the hard-

GUILTY OF SELLING

Fredericton, Dec. 1.—In the Police bers of the 104th Battalion stationed here, and was fined $50 or thirty days in jail. He will serve out his time in the county jail.

ships that the infantry men have, although I must say that I have been very fortunate and with very few exceptions I have had my regular sleep, and time in the 24 hours. One of the sergents in our Batt. received a D. C.
M., the other day for his fine work and bravery. The D. C. M. means Distinguished Conduct Medal, and that is next thing to a V. C.
Now you want me to open up as to news about myself. Well, at the present time, nine of us, (we Signallers), are residing in a room in which headquarters is located, and are indeed very comfortable with one exception, we are not allowed to have fire. think young Peters is about the only one of the bunch that you know.
The rest of the bunch, five in number, who reside here at headquarters, are in a hut and Haley and Simms are the only two there you know anything about.
Ray Haley for the last few days has been acting in the capacity of cook, and today (or it was yesterday) as it is now time in the 24 hours, and the majority of us had a shave and wash, which is a real eventful day, as we always date back from those days such as, if I wanted to tell some one the day a certain event happened, I would say, well, it was the day after Pete had a wash. We sure are a happy bunch. The worst of it is I am becoming quite a smoker or quite smoked, as the stove in the office has no stove pipe and we reap the benefit.
Now let me see what more do you want to learn. Oh yes! We have a bath in the bottom half of a barrel every two weeks and a nice clean change of underwear.
Two men have just returned from the trenches and they are mud up to the hips. Well, I must close for now as I have some work to do. Bye bye for now. Love to all. I am feeling fine.

PASS THROUGH HERE

On Monday Evening Arrive Girls
From S. S. Corsican. Ladies Make Gifts

Two hundred and thirteen wounded soldiers, who arrived at St. John on S.
S. Corsican, passed through here on Monday evening special train.
These men represented all parts of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, chiefly infantry. Many belonged to the Highland regiments from Winnipeg, Victoria and Toronto. All are proceeding now to Quebec, to report to the military authorities there, after which they go to their respective homes on a three-months' leave, at the end of which period they again report, and undergo an examination. If found fit for further military service, they again cross the Atlantic to join their respective regiments. It is understood that over half will be able to return to the fighting line.
This lot of men nearly all received their wounds at Ypres, Festubert, and vicinity, in the very severe fighting, which occurred at these places in the latter part of April, and first part of May. They were crippled in various respects, some of them in addition to wounds had been "gassed." It was stated that there were ten men on the train without legs, while several others were minus one leg or arm.
One of the wounded soldiers in conversation remarked that during the fighting at Ypres, a body of Canadians was surrounded and one small detachment consisting of 300 men have not been heard of since the battle. As far as the Allies are concerned, they have disappeared without leaving a clue. Probably they have been taken prisoners and sent to Germany, but this explanation of their fate is merely supposition.
Dr. Enright of Port Daniel, who was wounded some time ago was on board, and was greeted by many friends in this town. One of our own town boys, Ned Sargeant, was expected on the train, but he stayed over in St. John for a few days, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Alcorn.
A large throng of citizens were on hand at the station to give a welcome to the men who had been fighting their battles for them in the trenches in Northern France. The band also turned out and delighted the soldiers with their selections. The Women's Institute and the Soldiers Comfort Association presented gifts of fruit, candies, etc., to the men, a kindness which was much appreciated. The ladies of the Institute distributed one barrel of apples and thirty pounds of candy, cakes, sort of in bunches. Mr. Bell while other members gave boxes of cake and other dainties. In conversation with some of the soldiers they stated that they had been well treated in Campbellton and expressed their best thanks.

FAIR AND AUCTION

ON FRIDAY EVENING

Girls Tipperary Club to Hold Entertainment on Friday Evening for Patriotic Funds

The Girls' Tipperary Club will hold a grand fair and auction on Friday evening, in the new Opera House tea rooms, which promises to be both a novelty and a decided success. Of the funds so raised at this entertainment, half will be given to the Patriotic Fund, the remainder being used by the girls for the purchase of comforts for the soldiers in the trenches. Admission will be 10 cents and many useful and fancy articles will be sold.
The club is greatly indebted to the merchants for handsome and in many cases unsolicited donations, and the club aims to raise the sum of $500 for patriotic purposes. Many large donations have been given and these will be sold at auction or by ticket. One merchant in town promised the girls that if they received $50 worth of goods from the other merchants, he would give them a large library table. This amount has been easily over raised and this handsome article will be sold by tickets.
The club desires to express its appreciation of the kindness of the merchants of the town for their donations and to all who gave articles for the sale.
All that remains now is for the towns-people to patronize this fair in large numbers and help out in the good work so ably carried on by the Tipperary Club.
Don't forget Friday night. The admission is only 10 cents.

MAN IS ARRESTED

FOR HORSE STEALING

Taken Into Custody at Kedgewick, and Will Appear for Preliminary Hearing Friday

Last Friday, Chief Hughes arrested a man named John Boudreau, who is charged with stealing a team of horses the property of the Shives Lumber Co.
It appears that the man had started off with the horses from one of their camps, but was followed by pursuers in a canoe and headed off with the result that he was caught at Kedgewick.
The chief put him under arrest and brought him in to town, where he appeared before the Clerk of the peace and was remanded till Friday for preliminary hearing.
