

THE CARPENTERS' CODE

PROGRESS OF THE MEETING OF THE BROTHERHOOD AT TORONTO

July 12.—The first building taken up by the national convention of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at this session yesterday morning was the election of officers for holding the next biennial convention. The contest was between Cincinnati and Chicago, and resulted as in a victory for the latter city.

On Monday, however, was given the Grand President in the person of D. P. Rowland. Mr. Rowland was president of the Cincinnati local union for 25 years and is one of the founders of the organization, having joined in 1818.

The afternoon and evening sessions were devoted to amendments to the constitution. In order to better the relations between the United States and Canada were discussed in detail, in each of which a vote was taken.

A resolution was adopted in this connection which provides for the holding of a national convention in 1890, to be held at New York, and to be held in 1892 at Philadelphia.

The resolutions adopted in the afternoon and evening sessions were of a nature to improve the relations between the United States and Canada, and to provide for the holding of a national convention in 1890.
