Doan—Eastabrook

An exceedingly pretty wedding took place on January 7th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Eastabrook, 4th line, Warwick, when their only daughter, Viola, was united in marriage to Mr. Orville B.
Doan, late of Vancouver, B.C., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doan, Watford.
The bride, beautifully gowned in ivory brocade, entered the drawing-room in the arm of her father, to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, played by Miss Eva Watson, cousin of the bride. Little Marguerite Johnston, cousin of the bride, dressed in white silk, made a charming little flower girl.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. B. Doan, of Luton, brother of the groom, under a pretty arch in the tastefully green and white bedecked drawing room. After the ceremony the guests, numbering fifty-five, repaired to the handsomely decorated dining-rooms, where a tempting repast was served.
The presents were numerous and beautiful. Guests were present from Bothwell, Inwood, Kerwood, Watford and Carson City, Mich.

Henry Hardy, of Mt. Brydges, late reeve of Caradoc Township, has retired from municipal life. For length of service, the old veteran has established a record that is decidedly unique, having held office, on and off, in his native township during the past thirty-five or forty years.

Things Not Generally Known

Ozon—A substance discovered by Schonheim. It occasionally exists in the atmosphere and has a peculiar odor produced by the repeated discharge of electric sparks through the air. It is supposed to be an allotropic form of oxygen.

Shanghai—A slang term used to connote the practice of kidnapping sailors for service on board ships which probably took its rise or first became notorious in the city of Indian Trapper Eaten by Wolves in North

Port Arthur, Jan. 8.—Word has just reached here of a fierce battle with a pack of wolves in which Peter Nigosh, an Indian trapper, was killed in the Lake of the Woods country on Sunday.
The encounter occurred near the Canadian boundary, a few miles from War Road on the Canadian Northern Railway. Nigosh was returning from his traps, a few miles up the lake, when he was suddenly attacked by the wolves.
He had not time to scale the nearest tree, and had only a long hunting knife to protect him. The pack closed in on him and one after another he slew them with his weapon until nine were dead at his feet. Then, exhausted from his efforts he fell an easy prey to the survivors of the pack.
On Monday relatives began a search, and early Tuesday morning they discovered the spot where the battle took place, but the only trace of the Indian was his bones stripped clean of flesh.
The nine dead wolves were partly devoured. Wolves are exceptionally numerous in that neighborhood this winter.
Because of the absence of snow they are unable to track and kill the deer, and are made fierce and bold by hunger.

A License to Drink

From the Ottawa Journal.
Why not make a man take out a license to drink? Pay $5 for it and have the Government take away his license if he indulges not wisely, but too well.
Make him show the license if he is found buying after hours. This would be limiting the liquor traffic and regulating it right down to the minute. In connection with the treating system, for instance, just imagine a friend calling out to you: "Come on in and have a drink," while you would be forced to reply:
"Sorry, old scout, but I haven't a license."

Dad's Dope

A new Montreal paper proposes to deliver its first edition in Ottawa by aero-plane. It ought to contain all the current news.
As a remedy for the high cost of eggs it has been suggested that the hen be crossed with the owl so that she can see to work nights.
The London psychologist who asserts that men are more emotional than women may have arrived at this conclusion after watching the actions of a group of fans in front of a baseball bulletin board.
A New Jersey judge rules that a man is not drunk who can tell his own name and where he lives. For the purpose of refreshing the memory, a name and address card in the vest pocket is sometimes a great convenience.
When Colonel Roosevelt returns from his South American trip an annex will have to be built to the Smithsonian Institute to house his natural history collection.
Wearing loud red colors is recommended as a cure for laziness. Crossing a field where a cross bull is grazing or interrupting a turkey gobbler while at lunchson will give a practical demonstration of its effectiveness.
A professor in Manchester University claims to have discovered a process which renders garments absolutely non-combustible. If he can now invent something that will prevent trousers from bagging at the knee and shirtwaists from wrinkling no more can reasonably be expected of him.
In the obituary of a Toronto physician it was mentioned that he was an excellent carpenter. Proficiency in this vocation would be of assistance in his surgical work.

As a first aid to matrimony the reputation of being a good cook gets results where mere beauty fails. Winning prizes for cooking and sewing at the Washington State Fair, brought a North Yakima girl a deluge of matrimonial offers.
An old church near Paris was sold the other day for $4.20. This is about four dollars more than the collection at a "men's mid-week service." A Winnipeg man borrowed the coal man's scales to weigh his first born. He was surprised and exultant when it registered twenty-five pounds.

Equal parts of soda, flour and vinegar made into paste and applied to the interior of a silver teapot for a few hours, will renew its brilliancy.
Chinchillas, valuable fur-bearing animals which inhabit high mountains in Chili, have been imported into England for breeding experiments on a farm.
Postoffice officials complain of the large number of letters that fail to reach their destination on account of being carelessly or improperly addressed. It is noticeable that communications from bank managers and other reminders of unde-tachedness are remarkably free from this objectionable feature.
A "beauty parlor" for men has been opened in Baltimore. The average male countenance offers rare material for an expert decorator and rejuvenator.
Asthma Doesn't Wear Off Alone. Do not make the mistake of waiting for asthma to wear away by itself. While you are waiting the disease is surely gathering a stronger foothold and you live in danger of stronger and yet stronger attacks.
Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy taken early, will prevent incipient condition from becoming chronic and saves hours of awful suffering.

A Chicago firm has issued a book entitled "The Secrets of Sausage Making," not bound in calf. A sequel revealing the mysteries of chop suey would be another good seller.
An electric heater which may be placed in a bathtub after it has been filled to raise the water to any desired temperature is an Ohio man's invention.
A great exposition will be held at Dusseldorf in 1915 to show what Germany has accomplished in the last century in almost every field of human activity.

Among several wrinkle removing devices recently patented is one consisting of a head harness to pull back the ears and slightly draw up the skin of the face.
Our worries would be few if it were not for the things that never happen.
