

So through the course of life's long current May it be thine thy way to keep,
That at the moment of thy death hour Calm may'st thou smile, while all around thee weep.