GOLD in New York has been higher during the past week, averaging 1843, and closing at 187, the highest point reached. About a million of dollars shipped from New York last week.

WE have nothing new to notice in this department of trade. Importers are doing little or nothing. and we understand that the retail country trade from sundry causes is not as active as was anticipated.

The imports of Dry Goods at this port for 1866 are heavier even than was supposed, and are very greatly in excesss of those of 1865. Most of the wholesale merchants are holding over heavy stocks, the greater part of which has been taken out warehouse.

The following figures show the comparative imports of the several classes of Dry Goods, with the amount remaining in warehouse on the 81st Dec., 1866.

Cottons	2,855,462 460,582	$4,098,100 5,427,556 651,014	7,015
	$6.184.321	$10,382,718	$165,028

Shewing an increase in 1866 of $4,198,397, or nearly 68 per cent. over 1865 In Woollen goods the increase has been over 88 per cent., and so far these have been slow of sale, and constitute the largest portion of stocks on hand.

Cotton in Liverpool has been less active and a fraction lower, closing at 14fd, for middling uplands. The Manchester markets continue to shew more activity, and the tendency was towards higher prices for manufactured goods.

CINCE our last issue we have very little increased activity to report. A light jobbing trade, which is fair for the season of the year, prevents the jobbers from being entirely idle.

Some transactions have taken place in raw sugars during the week at an advance of {c. to {c. per lb. on previous rates; and a considerable inquiry for teas has arisen, but generally buyers' and sellers' views can not be reconciled.

SUGARS-Sales of the week about 300 hhds Barbadoes; part sold at $7.90, the balance at about $7.50, $7 was offered for some 200 hhds, and refused. Market firm; stock very light.

THE LEATHER TRADE,

BUT little change has taken place in this line of business during the week. Stock has caved in rather more freely, especially Sole, but from the previously limited supply, no depressing effect has as yet been produced in prices.

SBANISH SOLE .- For medium grades and No. 2 there is a fair demand, but best No. 1 is for the most part neglected.

SLAUGHTER SOLE .- There is still a scarcity of this stock, but prices are unchanged.

HARNESS-Continues without change.

WAXED UPPER-Has been quite inactive, while at the same time the stock on hand is small.

BUFF AND PEBBLED-Have been in fair request, especially Buff, which is less plentiful.

PATENT AND ENAMELLED .- The latter has been in demand, selling readily at quotations, whereas Patent has not been much asked for.

CALFSKINS.—The demand has been light, and so also have been the receipts.

SPLITS.-Receipts have been more liberal than heretofore, but no difficulty has been found in making sales at fair prices.

SHEEPSKINS.—Colored Linings are in demand, and there is ready sale for Russets of medium to light substance.

HIDES.—The stock in market is greatly reduced. and prices remain firm.

BUSINESS still remains quiet, but with a little more activity than hitherto noticeable. Cut Nails are firm, and a fraction higher. Manufacturers have already taken as many orders as will keep them busy till spring, and are indifferent about receiving more at present. Bar Iron is in better request, with a brisk business springing up. Some sizes of rounds and horse-shoe are very scarce, and are worth rather more than quotations. Canada Plates are quiet, but firm at quotations. In Tin Plates there is no change to report: the stock on hand is sufficient for present requirements. For Iron Wire there is a good demand, and some sizes are already very scarce.

The Montreal Custom House returns for 1866 shew a great increase in the imports of Hardware as compared with 1865. They are as follows for the two years:

$ 559,661

Of manufactured iron, such as plates, bar, hoops, &c. &c., full returns are not given, being only for the period during which it was subject to duty: but even for that time in 1866 the imports exceeded those for the whole of 1865.

FLOUR.-Receipts continue liberal, and with a restricted consumptive demand, stocks go on accumulating, making an increase of rather over 5000 bbls. during the opening half of January. The higher grades have almost run out of stock, and the small sales made are at high and irregular prices. Little variation in the prices of Superfine can be noted, as those hitherto buying on speculation have continued to absorb a large proportion of the receipts, the balance being needed for local use. Competition has however abated in some measure, and an easier feeling was manifested toward the close. In the lower grades little has been done, and rates quoted are mostly nominal, latterly however, these grades have been more inquired after, and a better demand is now looked for. Bag Flour.—The supply from all sources has been fair and prices have been barely maintained, $3.55 being now the extreme figure for best samples.

OATMEAL .-- A fair demand continues, and all desirable samples sell freely at about $5.

WHEAT .- There is little offered in the hands of agents, the receipts being mostly direct to millers. There has been less enquiry latterly, and quotations are obtained with difficulty.

PEAS—Sell as offered at from 80c. to 82c. per 60 lbs., or about 90c. per 66 lbs., and same rates are offered for future delivery.

OATS-A few cars are daily selling, mostly at 82c. from car or store. The demand is good, and prices likely to be well sustained.

PORK.—The demand is entirely nominal, and in anticipation of lower prices, dealers prefer awaiting the actual and pressing requirements of their trade to buying a single barrel ahead—the local demand is supplied by hogs in the carcass, which come in at lower prices than holders would be willing to sell packed pork for. Dressed Hogs-Arrivals during the veek have been largely in excess of the capabilities of this market either for consumption or packing. Prices consequently continue to decline, and sales even, of choice heavy weights are difficult to effect: most of the packers have partly from necessity retired from the market as the packing houses are fully stocked with work for several weeks yet to come. It seems likely therefore that prices will remain during the remainder of the season at a lower point than have been lately ruling.

BUTTER-Presents no new feature to vary the reiterated accounts of duliness both here and in all the other markets of the world-no outlet at present appears to offer itself, and holders have no resource but to continue holding until some purchaser comes forward to clear the market. Stocks are not heavy, receipts having been light for some time past, and several parcels continuing to be shipped to Britain on Upper Canada account; so that a moderate export demand would now absorb all the stock on hand.

Ashes .- Pots have fluctuated violently during the week, rising or falling day by day according to the presence or absence of speculators, the whole of the stock is now in their hands, and prices depend in a very great measure on their ideas of probable value and demand. Pearls quiet and unchanged.
