

whose careers were of promise for science and for the University.

Yet better after all for Miss Curzon and for all idealists, for whom in the nature of things age and experience would have brought much disappointment, who seem to beat their wings against the iron walls of circumstance, that she should have left this world in the flush of youth and strength by the comparatively easy and rapid death of drowning, and should not have survived to age and doubt and indifference. She died in the scenery she loved with "the many twinkling smile" of the sunlit bay about her, and the voice of the breakers, "the wild white horses," for church bells and requiem. Far from all other and more sordid foam and fret, by the side of her own white tent at "The Go-Home," she struck tent for the last time and is gone home.

U. OF T. LACROSSE TOUR.

On May 25th the University lacrosse team left for a three weeks' tour of the Eastern States. Manager Livingstone had on his list the following men: McEvoy, Grieg, Jackson, Hanley, Hunter, Sherry, Hendry, O'Flynn (captain), Gladney, Cain, Lepard and Spiers. Archibald and MacKay accompanied the team as official supporters.

The first game booked was with the strong St. Catharines Athletics, for the 25th. In this game, although the team hardly expected a win, its superior training told, and U. of T. won easily. Score, 6 to 3.

The team remained at St. Catharines that night, and next morning journeyed to Geneva, N.Y., where Kyle joined the team. Here the University team defeated Hobart College extremely easily. Score, 8 to 2. On the morning of the 27th the team boarded the train for New York, and it was during this stage of the trip that the great "Mystery of the Styx" occurred. Walter Cain has written a novel on this subject, which is increasing in popularity every day. Also, at Bethlehem, Pa., the proprietor of the lunch counter lost money, owing to the fact that the train pulled out before the fellows were able to settle for the goods.

The team arrived at Hoboken, N.Y., at 9 o'clock the next morning, and after trotting around a little the boys had a good night's rest and a lively practice on the cricket ground the next morning. This practice opened the eye of the Stevens Institute natives. At noon on Thursday the team "ferried" to New York City, registered at the Grand Union Hotel on Forty-second street, and the next day arrived at the Crescent Athletic Club at Bay Ridge. The "big" game of the tour was to be played on Saturday, and Friday was naturally given up to prayer and fasting.

By 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon 6,000 people were assembled on the club lawn to witness the struggle for supremacy between the intercollegiate champions of the world and the champions of the United States. And it was a struggle, too. There is no doubt about that. On the line up the U. of T. team looked small beside the husky United Statesers, but this didn't frighten the Canadians, and, starting with a pace that was fast and furious, they drew first blood in two minutes, Gladney doing the trick like a hero. Cain notched another soon afterwards; then the Crescents took one, and from this time out the Canadians managed to keep one goal ahead, and thus won the game. But the goal was bombarded so furiously during the last ten minutes that the home was called down on the defence to help out the wondrous work of the great quartette composed of McEvoy, Grieg, Hanley and Jackson. Bud Bogart, '98, Les Wilson, '02, and Price Montague, '04, were interested spectators, and led several resounding U. of T. yells. It was a famous victory, and one that will be long remembered by the U. of T. men who were there.

Where the fellows were after returning to the Grand Union Hotel is a question. The movements of Jack McEvoy, Purser Grieg and the manager were especially questioned and enquired into, with somewhat astounding results. On Tuesday the team started for Philadelphia, and played two games in the vicinity of that city. The first game was at Swarthmore College. It was easily won by a score of 5 to 3, but no more games at Swarthmore for the 1903 tourists. The college for hospitality is "all to the bad." Purser Grieg said it was s-i-m-p-l-y r-o-t-t-e-n. In Philadelphia the team put up at the Bingham House, and on Friday afternoon at the beautiful Manheim cricket ground won out from the University of Pennsylvania team by a score of 9 to 5. The treatment received from the U. of P. boys was very kind and hospitable. Hanley and Kyle were telegraphed for to come back to Toronto to play for other teams, but they didn't come.

On Saturday the team successfully defended their title of intercollegiate champions against Johns Hopkins, winning by a margin of 3 goals, and that evening the U. of T. men were royally entertained by the Hopkins men, for whom the Canadian team have a very deep regard.

On Sunday the fellows went down to see the magnificent Capital of the United States, and that evening began the return journey, reaching Buffalo the next day. The game with the Akron Indians was called off, and the team spent the time "doing" Buffalo. The next evening the "Western States," in a pleasant night's sail, conveyed the team to Detroit. Rumors of Detroit's strength gave the team a scare or two, as it was badly crippled, Gladney being out of the game, and Cain badly injured. However, although foul means were used to try and defeat them, the Canadians won by a score of 7 to 3, and the trip was then practically over.

U. of T. never had such a successful or pleasant trip. The men all had a good time, and those who are eligible will be hot after places next spring. The lacrosse team has done a lot in advertising our great Provincial University on the other side of the line, and it is the duty of all lacrosse men to turn out early next season and get in shape to uphold the title of "intercollegiate champions of the world." The positions of the men follow:

Manager, Livingstone; goal, McEvoy; point, Grieg; cover point, Jackson; first defence, Hanley; second defence, Hunter; third defence, Sherry; centre, Kyle; third home, Hendry; second home, O'Flynn; first home, Gladney; outside home, Cain; inside home, Lepard; spare man, Spiers.

The following is a summary of the tour:

May 25—U. of T., 6; St. Kitts, 3.
May 26—U. of T., 8; Hobart, 2.
May 30—U. of T., 5; Crescents of N.Y. 4.
June 3—U. of T., 5; Swarthmore, 3.
June 4—U. of T., 9; U. of P., 5.
June 6—U. of T., 9; Johns Hopkins, 6.
June 9—U. of T., 7; Detroit, 3.
Total: U. of T., 49; opponents, 26.
