

The oceanographic research data collected by high-latitude air expedition "Sever-40" is needed to facilitate navigation along the Northern Sea Route, to meet the needs of the national economy in areas of the Far North, and in the development and improvement of ice and hydrological forecasting methods.

Vozdushnyi Transport

1 December 1988

Page 8 (full text)