EMERGENCY SITTINGS

NOTICE TO SENATORS

On the Orders of the Day:

Hon. R. B. Horner: Honourable senators, before the Orders of the Day are called may I ask His Honour the Speaker if it is possible in future to notify those delivering telegrams to senators who live in the city that there is no need to wake them up in the middle of the night. I would appreciate it very much if that can be prevented from happening again.

Hon. John J. Connolly: Honourable senators, I thank the senior citizen of the Senate for drawing this matter to our attention, although I think I was the one worst done by. I think I live closer to the Senate chamber than any other senator, and I am sure I was the last one to receive a telegram. I went to bed at half-past ten last night, and the conveyors of the message almost pulled my door down in their efforts to deliver it to me at a quarter to midnight. However, honourable senators, these things happen.

I now move that the Senate do adjourn during pleasure, to reassemble at the call of the bell at approximately 5.40 p.m.

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

At 5.45 p.m. the sitting was resumed.
The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

In the name of the Commons, I present to Your Honour the following bill:

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1965.

To which bill I humbly request Your Honour's assent.

The Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to give the royal assent to the said bill.

The House of Commons withdrew.

The Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to retire.

The sitting of the Senate was resumed.
