

(e)—Lady Franklin, almost immediately after the return of McClintock, fully believed that the child's "revelation" was true to the letter, and that McClintock's discoveries had confirmed the same, all of which had been "seen" by the child about ten years before, and as such had been in her Ladyship's possession.

