The Tea Situation.

"This is very good news, if it is so, but we have not heard a word about it."

These were the words of the manager of the "Salada" Tea Company when informed that the embargo on tea will be removed.

"If the embargo is lifted it will certainly have a good effect on the tea trade, for it is we will have no tea in three weeks or less, although we are cutting down all orders to the smallest dimensions. For instance we had orders from Detroit last week for 42,000 lbs. which we cut down to less than 20,000 lbs. so throughout the United States as well as Canada. If it is a fact that the embargo is to be taken off it will still take five weeks to get tea here from London, and it may take very much longer because of the difficulties of getting steamers to carry."

"To be sure we have lots of difficulties with which to deal besides the embargo—freights having nearly doubled—war risk insurance—the difficulty of obtaining exchange in London and to add to our troubles, last night we received a telegram stating that the S.S. Keelung had arrived at Boston with a lot of tea for us, which we hoped to have rushed here, but the American Express, who were to rush it forward, advise that the steamship company are, for some reason, holding up the whole cargo. We have other teas on the City of Norwich and the City of Durham, both of which steamers are some place in the Mediterranean, but away behind time."

"As to the future of tea—we are just as much in doubt as though we were not in the trade at all. We have never had so much worry and trouble in our forty years' experience. This has been chiefly brought about by abuse from our customers for not delivering their orders in full, when we positively have not the tea to deliver—the Schoonfelds being seized at Gibraltar being partly responsible for our position. The public can depend on the 'Salada' Tea Company serving them as it has for twenty-five years back—with the finest quality of tea at the very lowest price at which it can be sold."
