

MPSON'S

Soles AT 99c.

Blucher cut, leather and calf low heel; all sizes $1.50. Tuesday

Boots. Blucher cut, caps, heavy sole, 7 1/2 and 8 to 10 1/2

PPER SOLES. Tipper Soles, made of lamb's wool, lea-rocheted wool up-adsome Christmas other, brother or ay: Men's, 30c; 18c; Boys', 20c; 16c.

ER SOLES. Tipper Soles, solid punter. Tuesday, boys', 45c; Misses', 28c.

ers. High relief, ball lots. Regular Tuesday, clearing.

n Moulding. Regular to 20

ts of Imported ers. left us about 60 of Imported Wall perfect, but short at one price, 11c.

rted Wall Papers, eds, creams, pinks, their color blends, s, dens, libraries, stair rooms, from 25c, 35c, 50c and 11c.

Show of Calendars Floor.

FFER. Books, each in a titles as "The fish," "Pilgrim's ity," "Treasure nister." Regular 98c.

TS. per, bound in lea-ular value $1.00.

lar prices.

oves 89c. Finished French aring from one of akers. Mousque-rewn seams, silk, gers, perfect work-lack, white, tan, are 10, 12, 14, 16-er $1.75 to $2.25.

omforters. Bed Spreads, mbroidery work, signs, extra large sh make; 15 only ach.

ekaback Towels, od Scotch make.

ers, largest size, e coverings, in illing, well made.

ture. es, in solid oak, esk, table, book

e oak with quar- with shaped legs ll, in rich golden rce $9.75.

oak, mission fin- with compart-drawer under-

Bloor St. Lot For Sale $1100 only 800 a foot for immediate sale. H. H. WILLIAMS & CO. 28 King St. E., Opp. King Edward Hotel.

PROBS: N.W. winds; snow surges; partly fair; stationary or lower temperature.

ULSTER WILL REFUSE TO PAY TAXES IMPOSED BY IRISH PARLIAMENT

At a Meeting in Belfast a Solemn Declaration was Drawn Up and $50,000 Was Subscribed to Organize the Ulster Men into Regiments and Purchase Arms.

PARLIAMENT FORMALLY DISSOLVED YESTERDAY

LONDON, Nov. 28.—With the dissolution of parliament to-day all formalities preliminary to the election of a new parliament were completed. The proclamation of dissolution summoned the new parliament to assemble on Jan. 31, 1911.

Among the first of its members to be elected unopposed will be Arthur J. Balfour, the opposition leader, the Liberals having decided not to contest his seat for the City of London. On the stock exchange, where regular dealings have been instituted in bets on the election, the feeling to-day seemed to anticipate a reduction in the Liberal majority.

In Ireland the struggle is growing more bitter every day. A meeting of delegates representing every Ulster county constituency was held in Belfast to-day, at which a resolution was adopted, on motion of a Presbyterian minister, to draw up a solemn declaration refusing to pay rates or taxes imposed by a Dublin parliament, or obey its decrees, while $50,000 was subscribed on the spot to organize the Ulster men into regiments and purchase arms.

At night a Brethren's defiance demonstration was held at Ulster Hall, Belfast, an overflow meeting of 20,000 people being held in the open air. Both speakers and the audience were enthusiastic. Lord Londonderry declared the American dollars enabled John Redmond to hold Asquith in the hollow of his hand. If a home rule parliament were established, he said, it might be found that Ulster would utterly decline obedience to the law.

Sir Edward Carson, former solicitor-general, now Conservative M.P. for Dublin University, said he would consent to their country being sold for American dollars. Walter Hume Long, Ulster M.P. for Strand, spoke in the same strain, and other speakers advised the American dollars to be used to buy arms and ammunition. The first independent woman suffrage candidate is announced in the person of a prominent advocate, Mrs. Mirreux, who will contest a division of Glasgow. The Socialist party has decided to run a third candidate in Battersea, thus seriously endangering John Burns' chance of re-election.

Standing of the Parties. To-day's dissolution of parliament brings to a crisis the supreme struggle now in progress to limit the legislative powers of the House of Commons, to permit the elective branch of parliament, the House of Commons, to exert larger powers in effecting legislation, more particularly in relation to Irish home rule and the financial budgets.

The House of Commons has a ministerial majority of 124, and the present Government are generally counted as supporters of the ministry, giving a ministerial strength of 373, as against the Ulster strength of 297, or a net ministerial majority of 124.

The last general election followed the dissolution of Jan. 0 last. Prior to that the ministerial majority was 384, and as a result of Ulster gains in the electoral college, the ministerial majority was reduced to the 124 of the house just dissolved. The former dissolution was also based on the issue of the house of lords, Premier Asquith having introduced a resolution declaring that the refusal of the lords to enact the financial budget passed by the commons had constituted "a breach of the constitution and usurpation of the rights of the commons."

Elected Without Contest. It has been decided that the following candidates will be elected in the election: Sir Donald MacMaster, formerly of Montreal. Desabury—Hon. W. Runciman (Durham) (Chester-le-Street)—J. W. Taylor (Lancaster). Durham (Houghton-le-Spring)—R. Cameron (Lancaster). Essex (Chelmsford)—Capt. Prettyman (Chelmsford). Hants, East—W. G. Nicholson (Uxbridge). Hants, South—A. H. Lee (Uxbridge). Kent (Medway)—Col. Ward (Uxbridge). Kent (Seven Oaks)—H. W. Forester (Uxbridge). Middlesex (Ealing)—H. Nield (Uxbridge). Shropshire—Sir C. Hill (Uxbridge). Shropshire (Newport)—E. Stainer (Uxbridge). Shropshire (Ludlow)—Rowland Hill (Uxbridge). Surrey (Chertsey)—D. MacMaster (Uxbridge). Surrey (Epsom)—W. Keasick (Uxbridge). Sussex (Chichester)—Lord E. T. Abbot (Uxbridge). Sussex (Horsham)—Earl Winterston (Uxbridge). Sussex (Lewes)—Campion (Uxbridge). Westchester (South)—M. E. Byss (Uxbridge). Wiltshire (Kingsley)—Sir J. Briggs (Uxbridge).

Court Extends Privileges of Condemned Sing Sing Prisoners.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 28.—By an order issued by Justice Merchurcher here, the Protestant prisoners in Sing Sing awaiting execution, will hereafter be allowed to become members of the Bible class conducted by Miss Virginia Hammersley Field of New York, and her associates in that field. In the past the Bible class was open only to the regular prisoners, the condemned prisoners being barred.

MURDERERS' BIBLE CLASS. Under the terms of Justice Merchurcher's order, the Bible class teachers will be permitted to give religious instructions to the condemned men, whatever restrictions Warden Frost may make. The teachers must in no way interfere with prison discipline any more than they do in the instruction of the other prisoners.

JUMPED FROM WINDOW. FORT MONROE, Va., Nov. 28.—Sir Lomer Gouin, prime minister and attorney-general of Quebec, and J. T. Mulroney of Montreal, arrived here today to join Sir Charles A. Pelletier, lieutenant-governor of Quebec, who is here for the first time in his new post. He is here for a month. Lt.-Col. C. P. Townley, U.S.A., commandant of Fort Monroe, made an official visit to the Canadian visitors.

SMALL BOY SUICIDE? NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 28.—(Special.)—Conductor Thomas J. Broscov of the Scenic Belt Line declared he saw a small boy wade into the whirlpool rapids and go to his death. He says as the waves carried the boy away he waved a last farewell. No missing boy has been discovered. No one else has reported having seen the occurrence.

The Toronto World

TWELVE PAGES.—TUESDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 29 1910.—TWELVE PAGES

OFFICES TO RENT Quebec Bank Building, singly or in suite; newly remodelled. H. H. WILLIAMS & CO., 88 King St. East. Toronto.

30TH YEAR.

COBALT CAMP'S FIRST SMELTER

Is Located on the Bailey Property — Progress of the Silver Country.

COBALT, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—"Familiarly breeds contempt" and it is in carrying out the ideas of this old adage that the interest in Cobalt has waned because of the frequent recognition of the extreme wealth of the world's premier silver camp. It is perhaps unnecessary to state that Cobalt is now producing one-seventh of the total world's output, and that for the year 1910 this means upwards of $13,000,000. This is a huge sum and upon it upwards of 10,000 people are thriving, enjoying life equal to any other place in Canada, and building up a citizenship which would be a credit to any nation. More than this, however, is the amount of money now being paid out in dividends to shareholders in various parts of the world, but more particularly, and more satisfactorily from a Canadian standpoint, a very large proportion is being paid within the Dominion.

PROMISE A REFERENDUM ON REFORM OF TARIFF

Suggestion is Made to Unionists, With the Intention That It Might Result in Carrying Lancashire.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable). LONDON, Nov. 28.—A feature of the situation worth noting is J. I. Garvin's suggestion in The Observer, Sunday, that the Unionists should promise a referendum on the question of tariff reform, if returned. Then Garvin opined they might "sweep Lancashire." The main organ of the militant tariff reformers scouted the suggestion this morning.

Lord Cromer now asks Unionist free traders to support their party, because he feels anxious that the force of circumstances at any rate, will compel the party to put larger issues than the local question, such as the proposed taxation on food to a referendum. The London Times says the Unionist solution of the second chamber question provides abundant guarantees that tariff reform would not be passed by any coup de main. It must have the assent of the bulk of the nation.

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

THE OBSTRUCTED RIGHT OF WAY

HISTORY OF THE JEWS AND SOUL'S SALVATION

President Schurman of Cornell Speaks Out—Attitude of Religious Men Changing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—To make belief in the history of the Jews a condition of the salvation of the human soul is, in this scientific age of the world, not only a physical impossibility, but an intellectual absurdity, and an outrage on free moral personality," said President Jacob S. Schurman of Cornell University, in an address here to-night. Dr. Schurman was speaking at the dedicatory exercises of the new buildings of the Union Theology Seminary in this city. He declared that the buildings are a striking expression of the spirit of religious progress, which, he said, is, however, "larger than any institution."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

WHOLESALE THEIEVRY AT PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS

Ninety-Six Dozen Towels and a Varied List of Articles Disappeared During Last Session.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—Ninety-six dozen towels were stolen from the parliament buildings, while the house was in session last year, was the statement made to a representative of The World to-day. The wholesale thievery of brushes, combs, towels, umbrellas, rubbers, walking canes, pocket knives, soap, and a host of other articles has been going on for years, but it has now assumed gigantic proportions.

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

UNPAID HOSPITAL BILLS TOTAL MANY THOUSANDS

Feature of Judge Winchester's Report Into Isolation Hospital Concerns Financial Management.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—Judge Winchester, the special investigator appointed by the city council to look into the management of the Isolation Hospital, will hand his report to Mayor Geary this week. It is a lengthy one, and is said to contain a number of recommendations with regard to corrections and improvements which have been suggested by the reams of evidence taken in the enquiry.

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

GILBERT IS GIVEN EVERY FRAG OF WELCOME

Nationalist Member for Drummond - Arthabaska Takes His Seat in House of Commons—Introduced by Monk and Paquet — Government and Opposition Busy.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—Apart from the introduction of Mr. Gilbert, member for Drummond and Arthabaska, the feature of to-day's sitting of the house of commons on the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, was Hon. William Paterson's vigorous onslaught on the position of the Conservative party in the light of Mr. Borden's amendment offered in lieu of that by Mr. Monk. Mr. Paterson persistently asked the question when the Conservative party was anxious for an immediate contribution to the imperial navy a year ago, why did hon. members present a change of front now and urge the delay, consequent upon an appeal to the country. He suggested it was due to the influence of Mr. Monk upon that party.

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is taking place in the attitude of religious men. It may certainly be claimed that in able eclecticism for improving the condition of the poor they may cite the example of the founder of the Christian Church. And apart altogether from history, we cannot imagine that the condition of the poor is always to remain what we see it to-day in any civilization calling itself Christian, or even human."

Whether we like it or not," he said, "a change is