In this Church, situated within the grounds of St. James' Cemetery, morning and evening service is now conducted by the clergy of the Cathedral. The average attendance during morning service is 70 or 80, evening service 120 or more. Increasing interest seems to be manifested in these services.

There are now on the roll 139 scholars: 72 girls, 23 boys, and 44 infants, with an average attendance of 105. The lady teachers are: Mrs. Rundle, Mrs. Melville, Miss Chapman, Miss Ellis, Miss Joseph, Miss DeWilton, Miss Thomas, Miss Bell-Smith, Miss Sykes, Miss Fitzimons, Miss Lovett, and Miss Fair. The gentlemen teachers are Mr. Jenkins, Mr. Melville, Mr. Stagg.

The Superintendent is the Rev. Dyson Hague; the Secretary, Mr. Fred. Hodgins; the Treasurer, Mr. Stagg.

The School is in every way prosperous. The attendance is so large, that it is hoped a new school may soon be provided. The children are well behaved, quiet, orderly, and devout. The teachers are earnest and devoted to their work. Many thanks are especially due to our esteemed treasurer Mr. Stagg, whose kindness in preparing the School, and taking care of the Bibles and hymn books is beyond praise.

By the generosity of Mr. Wyld and Mr. Jenkins, illustrated papers are distributed to all the children once a month.

RECTOR'S BIBLE CLASS.

This class was resumed in October; the regular weekly meetings were held till March when they terminated for the season, a little earlier than usual owing to the Rector's indisposition.

The Book of Acts from chapter 13 to the end of 19 was considered at the weekly meetings of the class this winter. The attendance was large and encouraging; but if all, who easily might, had availed themselves of this opportunity the attendance would have been very much larger.
