

Italian Positions Extended
on Front of Twenty-one Miles

Rome, May 25, via London.—Italian troops engaged in the offensive movement south of Gorizia have captured the fortified heights north of Jamiano, the war office announced today. The Italian positions have been extended still further all along the 21-mile front, the announcement adds.

South of Jamiano, to the sea, the Italians also gained ground, driving forward south of the Jamiano-Brestovizza road. The battle in the day and the day before took a total of 10,245 prisoners, and much war material. An Austrian column made a surprise attack on the Italian lines in the Vodice. It not only was driven back, the war office reports, but its original point of departure was captured by our troops.

Our Quota Under
Conscription

In raising by conscription 100,000 additional men for service overseas, and according to the same population basis of allotment to military districts as was adopted by the government in its former plan to secure 500,000 men by voluntary enlistment, No. 6 (maritime provinces) military district will be required to provide 18,000 men. This, on the same basis of population would mean about 4,000 men for New Brunswick or considerably less than enlisted voluntarily last year. The draft from each military district throughout Canada would be approximately as follows:

Table with 2 columns: District Name and Quota. Includes No. 1 District (London), No. 2 District (Toronto), No. 3 District (Kingston), No. 4 and 5 Districts (Montreal and Quebec), No. 6 District (Maritime Provinces), No. 7 District (Manitoba and Saskatchewan), No. 8 District (British Columbia), No. 9 District (Alberta).

Religious Effect of War

He next spoke on the religious effect of the war in England. He had been acting military chaplain in a large hospital in England, and he said that he was too old and decrepit to go to the front. In this hospital he had seen and heard much of the war from the front. Monsignor Barnes referred to a story told him by Chief Justice W. R. Jordan, who had been in the English hospital. The man back from the front had not had his religion blunted by the war but had had it sharpened.
