Combs Signs for Three Years Cincinnati, Sept. 26.—A contract with the Dodgers covering the next three seasons has been signed by Jack Combs, veteran pitcher. Combs declared that though he turned down the offer to be coach of Yale's nine he may instruct the Blue pitchers next spring prior to March 1, when he will report to take the southern training trip with the Brooklyn club. Bender Sings Federals Pittsburgh, Sept. 25.—Charles A. ("Chief") Bender, formerly with the Philadelphia American baseball club who this year played with the Baltimore of the Federal league, yesterday filed suit in court here against the Federal league, asking judgment for $1,068, which he claims is due him on a contract for his services. In his petition Bender alleges that he signed a contract for two years at $7,200, but recently he was unconditionally released. The Pittsburgh and Buffalo Federal League clubs, playing here today, were made the parishies in the suit. Fined $300 Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—John J. Kilkenny and James Walsh of Wilkesbarre, who recently were indicted on charges of violating the federal statutes in operating a baseball pool in which they gave prizes for correct guesses on the results of major league games, pleaded guilty in the U. S. district court here on Friday and were fined $300 each. Kilkenny and Walsh published a weekly paper in Wilkesbarre and later in Allentown in connection with which they distributed the prizes. The government contended that this constituted a lottery in violation of law. TURF At Moospath Saturday A good day's sport at Moospath Saturday was attended by a fair crowd. There was a cold wind blowing which was against fast times. All the races were well contested, Klondyke winning the racing race in three straight heats, best time 2:31. In the trotting race Border Prince, a four-year-old stallion owned by Thos. Hayes, took the first heat the next two going to Mary McDougall, Iowa Parolee third. Lunacy, a three-year-old, went an exhibition half mile in 1:28 driven by a boy twelve years old. He is a very big gaited trotter. Two New 210 Trotters From the reports of recent meetings are found two new 210 trotters—Lettie Hall, 210, and Slip Past, 2:09 1/2—the first named having secured her new record at a breeders' meeting in Hartford, Conn., on Sept. 18, while the new mark of Slip Past was taken during the Great Western Circuit meeting at Milwaukee, Wis., on Sept. 17. As her name signifies Lettie Hall, now owned by William S. Tod of New York, is a daughter of Walnut Hall, 2:08 1/2, she being his sixth 210 trotter and a product of Walnut Hall Farm, Slip Past, although bred in Kansas, is now owned in Illinois, and has been campaigned this season by W. B. Taylor of Sedalia, Mo., who has brought out in my good trotters, including Early Alice, 2:06 3/4, the mare that he raced on the Grand Circuit a few years ago. Only two reductions are noted, Lizzie Brown having lowered her previous record of 2:07 1/2 to 2:06 1/2, and Jaramie Lead cutting a half second off his former mark. There are now thirty-two new 210 trotters in this year's list. AUTO Astor Cup Race New York, Sept. 26.—The elimination races preliminary to the 350 mile automobile race for the Astor cup on Oct. 2 began at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway on Saturday and will continue for three days. Thirty machines were entered for the cup race. The requirement was that they should make a two mile trial at the rate of at least eighty-five miles an hour. Manners are the happy ways of doing things—each one a stroke of genius or of love—now repeated and hardened into usage.—Emerson.

DRIVING BALL PLAYERS THING OF THE PAST So Says Manager Fohl of the Cleveland American League Team The baseball manager who wants to make a success of it these days will forget that John McGraw and Frank Chance won pennants by driving their players. Such is the philosophy of Lee Fohl, temporary manager of the Cleveland Indians, who most likely will start the 1916 campaign as their regular manager. Fohl has won a lot of pennants but didn't had much big league experience when given control of the Indians. He was always a shark and at bringing out young players, especially pitchers so some had no hesitancy about promoting him from coach to manager. "The way to run a ball club is to study your players' faces, figure out the best way to handle each man and then wield the whole bunch into a machine without riding any of them," Fohl says. "Ball players of today are more sensitive than those of ten years ago. You can't get anywhere by driving them. Hammer them work into them, let each one work his own problems most of the time and correct their mistakes without handing around baseball bats. A manager could not send a batter up to the plate with definite orders," says Fohl. "Any time you put a batter under orders you are taking something away from him for, in following instructions he may be forced to let a grand opportunity pass. Pitchers should not be worked too hard in the spring training camp. They when their arms are the weakest, but the reason is to make them do more than twice as much labor than as they will be called upon to perform later on when their arms are strong. "The time for a ball club to cut loose and take chances is when it's behind. A team on the short end of the score seems doomed to lose anyhow, so why not risk everything on a chance of making the break come your way?" Like Clarence Rowland of the White Sox Fohl is a "Busher." But where Rowland has been handed the biggest stars Comiskey could buy for him, Fohl has had to work with a very limited backing. Still he has improved his team.

THE DISPUTES RIGHT OF WILLARD TO THIS TITLE In Jesse Willard, heavyweight champion boxer of the world, also champion athlete of the world, as he is styled by his managers and publicity seekers? It seems Willard is attaching himself to a lot of honors many of which might take a lot of vigorous contention to uphold. Dr. B. F. Roller, one of America's best wrestlers, thinks Willard is far from being the champion athlete of the world, while conceding that Willard is the champion fighter. Dr. Roller writes: "What does Willard mean by champion athlete? If he means champion boxer let him say so and I will not argue. If he means that he is the champion of the world in the majority of athletic exercises, namely, fencing, shooting, running, jumping, handball, swimming, putting the shot, throwing the hammer, pole vaulting and football, not to mention tennis and golf, I feel perfectly sure I could easily beat him in eight. At least I am willing to try it. "I do not sweepingly contend that I am the champion athlete of the world, but I think I have a far better claim to the title than has Willard. Dr. Roller also brings out the question of supremacy between fighters and wrestlers. He claims that wrestling is a far better means of self-defense and recently challenged Willard to a mixed match in order to prove this contention. Willard so far has ignored his challenge, in explanation of his challenge Dr. Roller writes: "I am not seeking notoriety, trouble or money in this matter. I simply am trying to prove that boxing as a means of self-defense is not in a class with wrestling. I am willing to meet Willard in public or private for nothing or much less than a match go-as-you-please and I am confident he will be tied in a knot so quickly he will not know what hit him. A veteran sporting man discussing such a match agreed that Dr. Roller possibly would have an easy time beating Willard at such a match, but suggested that "Sam" Langford would easily defeat Roller. He said that mixed matches of this character have been held before and mentioned "Kid" McCoy's easy victory over an exponent of Savate in Paris. A Wise Kid "Johnny, do you know that your mother has been looking for you?" asked the neighbor next door. "Sure, I do," replied Johnny "that's the reason she can't find me."

ACCUSE LABOR LEADERS OF CAUSING MAN'S DEATH New York, Sept. 27.—The trial of seven officials of the Cloak and Suit Makers' Union, accused of procuring the death of Abraham Liebovitz, who was beaten to death during the Garment Workers' strike of 1914, after he had obtained non-union employment. Assistant District Attorney Delehanty, in addressing the jury, called the case "A plain and unvarnished story of deliberate murder." He told how Liebovitz, with a wife and five children to support, went on strike with other members of the union. Unable to provide for them, however, he sought work in a non-union shop in Hunter, N. Y., from whence, according to the prosecutor, he was induced to return. Then, at the headquarters of the union, said the state attorney, "an organized assault" was made on him which resulted in his death later in a hospital. All the defendants, he declared, participated in the assault, either actually or by consent, and all were equally culpable.

BOB FITZSIMMONS' WIFE ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 27.—Crushed by the thought of being taken to what she termed a charitable institution, Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons, wife of the ex-boxing champion, who before her marriage was Countess Tina Zello, attempted suicide at the County Hospital. Mrs. Fitzsimmons was later seen in a wheelchair in one of the wards. She was crushed by the thought of being taken to a county institution, Mrs. Fitzsimmons said, "and it is true I tried to end my life by leaping over the railing. However, I am given the best of treatment here and I expect to regain my health."

POLICEMAN SHOT AT DANCE DIES OF WOUNDS New York, Sept. 27.—George Tapping, one of two patrolmen shot while attending a ball given by the Thomas J. McManus Association, a Democratic organization of the 11th Assembly District, died several hours later in a hospital. James Bishop, the other patrolman shot, is reported dying. His wound was in the right shoulder. Daniel Tynan, a clerk, who also was wounded, is said to be in a serious condition at the Knickerbocker Hospital. He was shot in both legs. The shooting, which is said to have been the outgrowth of a gangsters' feud, occurred in a room adjoining the Manhattan Casino, at 188th street and 8th avenue, Harlem, where several hundred men and women were dancing. A man, who gave his name later as Thomas O'Neil, was arrested after a chase and fight. He is accused of having shot the policemen.
