ST. JOHN BILLS

Division of City Into Five Districts

New Proposal

It is expected that the St. John bills regarding the proposed change in the assessment law and the petition for a plebiscite on the return to the ward system will be taken up by the municipalities committee in Fredericton tomorrow. There is but little time left before prorogation.

While it is generally believed that the assessment change will not be agreed to by the committee, there is no indication of their attitude on the other matter. Any proposal to change the form of the civic government is regarded by the committee as a very serious matter and they have been inclined to proceed slowly and with due deliberation.

In addition to the request of the petition for the return to the ward system and the counter-representations in favor of the commission form the committee has received communications from citizens who are in favor of neither and who want a change to something entirely different.

The committee has been inclined to receive any and all suggestions. So one of the proposals put forward is the division of the city into five districts with two or three representatives from each to form the common council.

It has been intimated that if the committee granted the request for a plebiscite that the vote would not be taken until the next civic elections. The promoters of the petition are opposed to this, as they want a vote immediately.

He is well and has escaped injury.

SHOCKING CONDITIONS REVEALED TODAY IN POLICE COURT CASE

In the police court this morning Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peters, and John McInnis alias O'Leary, Russell Baird, Kathleen Peters, aged thirteen years, Mary Peters, aged twelve, Bertha McDonald, aged fourteen, and Ida Peters with an infant child, all appeared to answer the charge of being inmates of a house of ill-repute. Peters pleaded guilty and the rest not guilty.

Sergeant Sullivan said he and other policemen went to the house and while standing near the windows heard cursing and swearing and angry talk inside. Later when one of the defendants went to leave the house they arrested him and went into the house. They found the father and mother, the son and the soldier O'Leary there under the influence of liquor. He said it was the dirtiest and worst looking house he ever entered during his experience on the police force. He said there were twelve in the family and there were only two old beds, a table and a few chairs. The father he said had not worked for months and had been drinking heavily.

Special Patrolman McBride corroborated the statements of Sergeant Sullivan and in addition said he discovered one of the soldiers hiding behind a door when he was searching the house. He also found fifteen or more empty gin bottles in one of the bedrooms.

Special Patrolman Barrett said he went to the house on three occasions and, being unable to get in, he crawled under the house and while there heard cursing and bad language. He also heard talk about drinking and in particular distinguished the woman's voice.

Sergeant Smith told about watching the house and having to go there on several occasions to quell disturbances. He said the general reputation of the house was bad.

Mrs. J. Guilfoyle said she owned the house and occupied the flat above. She said that drunken soldiers frequently visited the house and created a disturbance. Negroes also visited the defendants.

Kathleen Peters said that soldiers frequently visited her house and drank liquor. They sang and drank and sometimes got into a fight. Her father, she said, frequently went out and purchased liquor for the soldiers.

John Guilfoyle told of attempting to help soldiers from fighting in his yard. He also saw women lying drunk in the Peters flat. Soldiers were also lying around drunk.

Russell Baird swore that he went to Peters house to get him to go to work. While there the place was raided. He said he knew the family having boarded there for several days. He was fined $50 or three months in jail, which was allowed to stand against him.

Fred Gotwa and Frank Vankedge, two Belgians, arrested on charge of fighting in Britain street, were remanded for witnesses.

James Poner, William J. Ritchie and Sergeant Caples testified regarding the trouble.

Charles Izard of Sheriff street, appeared to answer a charge of stealing a shovel from Frank Barrett. He pleaded not guilty. Witnesses will have to be summoned.

Mary Hickey, arrested on charge of escaping from the Evangeline Home and also for stealing some clothes, was sent to the House of the Good Shepherd. Neither case against her came up in court.
