LIBERTY OF THE PRESS
By Edward D. Baker

THE liberty of the press is the highest safeguard of all free government. Ours could not exist without it. It is like a great exulting and abounding river. It is fed by the dews of heaven which distill their sweetest drops to form it. It gushes from the rill as it breaks from the deep caverns of the earth. It is augmented by a thousand affluents that dash from the mountain top to separate again into a thousand bounteous and irrigating streams around.

On its broad bosom it bears a thousand barks. There genius spreads its purpling sail. There poetry dips its silver oar. There art, invention, discovery, science, morality, religion may safely and securely float. It wanders through every land. It has a genial, cordial source of thought and inspiration wherever it touches, whatever it surrounds. Upon its borders there grows every flower of grace and every fruit of truth.

Sometimes that river oversteps its bounds. Sometimes that stream becomes a dangerous torrent and destroys towns and cities upon its banks. But without it, civilization, humanity, government Find an old man.

—all that makes society itself—would disappear and the world would return to its ancient barbarism.

To he has learned to swim.
